Foreign Languages in the Life of an Educated Person

Today it is quite evident that everyone should know at least one foreign language.

Knowing one or more foreign languages makes it possible to get acquainted with different ways of thinking, to understand a new civilization. Learning a foreign language stimulates mental abilities and gives you a chance to appreciate a new literature, a different culture and to broaden your horizons.

Besides, knowing foreign languages has a practical value. It makes it easier to choose a profession and provides job promotion. It helps to improve the quality of your work, because it reduces the time lost on obtaining the necessary information. At present many professions, such as a pilot, a doctor, an engineer, a cosmonaut and many others, require a working knowledge of at least one foreign language.

People all over the world speak almost 3,000 languages. Some languages are spoken by millions of people, others by only hundreds of them. The most widespread language in the world is Chinese. 350 million people speak English as their first language. About the same number use it as a second language. Russian is also one of the most prevalent, expressive and rich languages in the world. 240 million people speak Russian nowadays.

Among the great number of languages that exist on our planet today there are some which stand out. Scientists distinguish 13 great languages. These are the languages that are spoken by no less than 50 per cent of people on the Earth. They are Chinese, English, Russian, Spanish, Hindi and Urdu, Indonesian, Arabic, Bengali, Portuguese, Japanese, German, French, Italian.

A person who knows these languages can speak to and understand almost 2 thousand million people and doesn't suffer from the language barrier. To state the significance of this or that language one must take into consideration not only its prevalence but the quantity of printed production. For instance, the largest number of books is published in Russian including technical literature. The greatest number of press production is published in English. As far as books are concerned, the largest number of them is translated from English, Russian, French and German accordingly.

Today there are a lot of people in Europe and Asia who know several languages. A person who knows several languages is called a polyglot. They are not few. The name of Henrich Schlimann, a famous German archaeologist who discovered Troy is known all over the world. It took him two years to learn the first two foreign languages. Later on it took him several weeks to master another foreign language.

Among polyglots there are champions. Thus, Cardinal Mezzophanti who lived in the middle of the last century knew 100 languages. Professor Hesstermann from Germany knew 132 languages. The more languages man knows the easier is the way he masters a new one. As polyglots say it is difficult to begin. But when you start learning a third language «everything is going on swimmingly». It is within everyone's power to know, read and speak a foreign language. But one should regard learning a foreign language as a very important and serious task. The knowledge of other languages is very useful, especially if you have to work abroad or if you must read foreign literature in the original. If you know the language of a foreign country, you can talk to its people and understand what they are speaking about without anybody's help. The knowledge of foreign languages also helps young people of different countries to develop friendship.

Many people are learning English, because in the recent years it has become not only an international language, it is now a number one language in the world. Besides, English is becoming a lingua franca. It is used a great deal by businessmen from different countries, which don't have a common language, in order to do business. It is already a lingua franca at international conferences. Besides, every person who travels in Europe, Asia or Africa, even in the South America gets around by using English. So English is becoming more and more the “language for practical use”.

English has become the world's most important language in politics, science, trade and cultural relations, aviation, international sport and pop music. It is nowadays second only to Chinese. It is the official language in 44 countries: the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, the United States of America, Australia, New Zealand and others. It is used as one of the official languages in Canada, the Irish Republic. It is also spoken as a second language by many people in India, Pakistan and numerous countries in Africa, to say nothing of people all over the world who know English as a foreign language. From the British Isles English spread all over the world. 75 per cent of the world's mail is in English, 60 per cent of the world's radio stations broadcast in English and more than a half of the world's periodicals are printed in English.

It is known that different languages can come into fashion or go out of it. It is generally considered that the most fashionable language in the world nowadays is English. Spanish also becomes very popular. It is learnt nowadays more often than earlier. Oriental languages are also widespread today. Learning a foreign language has a practical value but the choice of a foreign language sometimes depends on a fashion (this fashion turns out to be the demands of life and society). Thus, the knowledge of a foreign language today is a life necessity.

Back to School: The First Day of Classes

Most college students tend to share similar feelings of anxiety mixed with hope towards their first day of class. Everyone... even the worst of students... tends to enter "back to school" mode with a genuine sense of motivation. Many of us become ironically eager to purchase new textbooks, to see new teachers, and to adjust to a new schedule. We even convince ourselves that we are going to excel this semester... that we are going to live up to our "full potential" and score perfect marks even if we've never come close to doing so in the past! What could possibly go wrong?

What usually goes wrong is poor planning. Overly-creative, highly intelligent students begin each semester with genuine hope and personal promise but typically end the semester with a sense of underachievement and dissolution that had begun to set in even before mid-terms. How can a student avoid this? Break each semester down into little, sub-goals first. You wouldn't leap up an entire flight of stairs...you'd walk them each one at a time. The same principle applies here: Don't even look at the first quiz or test yet... it's probably still a long way off in the grand scheme of the academic term. Look at the FIRST lesson to be taught. Worry about how to excel at THAT lesson and ONLY at that lesson. Don't think of the midterm or any other assessment yet to come. Concentrate only on what is to be expected of you in the very next class and focus all of your time and energy on achieving a mastery over that one subtopic. Do this for each class and when it finally does become time for an examination-- you'll hardly need to study... you'll only need to "review." The secret is truly in the psychology and it's far easier said than done... We challenge you to make it happen this year!!!

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

Exams – How to Deal with Anxiety

Many students have stress, worries and anxieties when thinking about or taking an exam. You should start with attending all of your classes; you will already be partially prepared because of your attendance in the classroom. Complete all of your assignments, these assignments are for your continued understanding of the materials and will aid you in your realizing that the subject is comprehensible by you. Once you have mastered the basics in the classroom and material understanding the rest will come easily. There will never be a guarantee by anyone that you will do well on an exam no matter how much you should study, but in understanding the materials you should feel confident enough to take the exam.

Avoidance of stress in your life should be another top priority as your exam time approaches. Keep regular hours; your body will notice a difference and your mind will be tired if you don't keep regular sleeping habits. This theory also applies to the all-nighters that some students pull. Studying away all-night to complete or cram for a test will deplete your mind and body of you balance until you get the rest you need. Start studying for a test at least two weeks before the exam; giving your self-breaks between studying will help you retain more knowledge. Eating from a regular diet also helps you build concentration and the feeling of self-confidence. If you are eating straight chocolate and chips for a week your body will feel depleted of nutrients needed to keep you motivated.

Keeping your body and mind in tune with your on going classes and studying needs will give you extra motivation needed to conquer an exam. As you prepare to head to class to take the actual exam, make sure you have all of the needed supplies – pens, paper, calculator, and eraser – anything that keeps you in control. Being afraid of the exam or test, it is a normal feeling that many students have and face everyday. You will find that some students need to crack jokes before a test, have a quick jog, or even some may need to take a nap before a big exam to feel relaxed and in control of their feelings as they approach the testing time.

British Universities

There are about 90 universities in Britain. They are divided into three types: the old universities (Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh Universities), the 19th century universities such as London and Manchester universities, and the new universities. Some years ago there were also polytechnics. After graduating from a polytechnic a student got a degree, but it was not a university degree. 31 former polytechnics were given university status in 1992.

Full courses of study offer the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Science. Most degree courses at universities last 3 years, language courses 4 years (including a year spent abroad). Medicine and dentistry courses are longer (5-7 years).

Students may receive grants from their Local Education Authority to help pay for books, accommodation, transport and food. This grant depends on the income of their parents.

Most students live away from home, in flats or halls of residence. Students don't usually have a job during term time because the lessons, called lectures, seminars, classes or tutorials (small groups), are full time. However, many students now have to work in the evenings.

University life is considered «an experience». The exams are competitive but the social life and living away from home are also important. The social life is excellent with a lot of clubs, parties, concerts, bars.

There are not only universities in Britain but also colleges. Colleges offer courses in teacher training, courses in technology and some professions connected with medicine.

Pupils going on to higher education or professional training usually take «A» level examinations in two or three subjects. Universities accept students mainly on the basis of their «A» level results, although they may interview them as well. In 1971 the Open University was started, where these formal qualifications are not necessary. Nearly a quarter of all adult part-time students follow its degree courses on radio and television.

There are forty-seven universities in Britain and thirty former polytechnics (now also universities), plus 350 colleges and institutes of higher education (some of which train teachers).

Undergraduate courses normally take three years of full-time study, although a number of subjects take longer, including medicine, architecture and foreign languages (where courses include a year abroad). They lead in most cases to a Bachelor's degree in Arts or Science. There are various postgraduate degrees, including Master and Doctor of Philosophy. The last two are awarded for research in arts or sciences.

Degrees are awarded either by the institution itself, or by the Council for National Academic Awards, particularly in vocational areas. Students of law, architecture and some other professions can take qualifications awarded by their own professional bodies instead of degrees.

At present, students who have been accepted by universities or other institutions of higher education receive a grant from their local authority, which covers the cost of the course, and may cover living expenses. Parents with higher incomes are expected to make a contribution. Until 1990 the grant did not have to be paid back, but now a system of loans has been introduced.

The most famous universities are Oxford and Cambridge, called «Oxbridge». They are famous for their academic excellence of higher education.

Students of the first and second years study maths, physics, chemistry, foreign languages, elements of machines, mechanical drawing, strength of materials, history, philosophy, psychology etc. From the third year they start to study special subjects and carry out research works in their student scientific societies. Many students get student grant, the sum of money which depends on their success in studies. There are 3 hostels near the main building and the students from other towns and villages can live there paying a small quantity of money for rent.

Lighting up the world

LED lights help in areas without electricity

Dr Irvine-Halliday is a professor of electrical engineering at the University of Calgary in Canada. Dr Irvine-Halliday went on a walking trip to Nepal in 1997 and he saw that people in the villages used lanterns to light their homes. The lanterns were smelly and dangerous and the light wasn't very bright. Dr Irvine-Halliday wanted to help solve the problem. So, he started the Light Up The World Foundation. It is a charity that gives LED lights to thousands of people around the world.

About 1.6 billion people worldwide don't have electricity. They use oil in their lamps. But it is an expensive fuel. It is also inefficient and causes indoor and outdoor air pollution.

LED lights are an ideal solution to the problem. They only need a little power and this means that people can use them in areas where there is no electricity. They can run on AA batteries, or solar power. LEDs can give up to 100 times more light than lanterns, and they last a long time. When people began to use LED lights, it changed their lives. They increased productivity and it gave them more time to study. It also reduced health problems and accidental fires.

Now, it is important to make LEDs less expensive. For example, families in rural Kenya spend about $7 a month on oil for lighting. A solar-powered LED lamp lasts longer, but many people cannot afford the $25 to $50 that the lamps cost to buy. When charities and other organisations find a solution to the price problem, the future could be bright.

Playtime

Toy manufacturers make adults feel young again

Two things are often true about toy production. First, toys are usually made cheaply in low-cost economies. And secondly, toy manufacturers generally need a large population of children to sell their products to. Japan is big, expensive and rich. It also has a low population of children. So, do toys sell badly in the Japanese market?

The surprising answer is no. In fact, 1 _____. One reason that the market is and the toys a success is that 2 _____ are well designed. Another reason is that many manufacturers now market toys to adults as well as children.

Toy makers happily design more and more new toys for adults. Some of the toys are very expensive. There is a walking robot toy that is popular with middle-aged men. It has a 100-page instruction manual and costs ¥126,000 ($1,105). And there is a talking boy doll that is popular with women over 40. Not all the toys use modern technology. 3 _____ that are also popular. One example is a baseball game with small plastic players.

Why are toys so popular with adults? One reason is that modern employees work hard. 4 _____. These toys help people to relax and play. Some of the products now sell well in other countries, too. 5 _____. Toys for adults could soon be in a toyshop near you.

The shy architect

How Ratan Tata is changing India's biggest company

Ratan Tata trained to be an architect. Then he worked for the family firm, the Tata Group - one of the biggest companies in India. It has companies in many different sectors, including the car industry and the steel industry. The company's latest project is producing a car that costs under $3,000.

Mr Tata does not drink or smoke and he does not like publicity. He became chairperson in 1991. At that time, Tata was a difficult organisation to manage. There were more than 300 different companies in the group and some were old-fashioned. Today, there are only 96 companies and the group is more modern.

In the past, it was difficult for Tata to trade outside India because of competition from other countries. Now it exports internationally. The Tata Group is also buying companies in different countries. At the moment, one of the companies in the group, Tata Steel, is trying to buy Corus, a European steel company. But it has a competitor CSN, a Brazilian company, also wants to buy Corus.

Ratan Tata is making changes to the company. Many of these changes help make the group more competitive. But he isn't changing all the group's traditions. For example, the Tata Group still tries to help its workers - the children of Tata's steelworkers first started to have free education in 1917. Two thirds of the Tata Group is owned by charitable foundations, and today they are still helping people in India. Investors sometimes ask: 'Is Tata doing the right thing? Is charity good for business?' But Mr Tata thinks it is possible to help people and be competitive at the same time.

Why British people are moving to other countries

More and more Britons are living in other countries. A recent report said that almost 200,000 Britons left the country last year with no plans to return. A British person emigrates every three minutes, and 5.5m British people now live abroad.

Many younger people leave - a lot of students go abroad to study. Older people are usually retired and want a warmer climate to live in. Two thirds of the people that emigrate are workers. Some are managers and others do manual or administrative jobs. Australia is the favourite country for English people to emigrate to. Spain and the USA are also popular.

Why do people leave? Many want to find a better job. A quarter of people say that they want to leave Britain because the cost of living is high. Homeowners with expensive houses can buy a bigger place abroad; young people want to move because houses in other countries are cheaper than in Britain. Research suggests that the quality of life in Britain is worse than in some other countries. But most people leave for positive reasons: many think that living in another country is more interesting -they leave because they want to have a happier life.

It is becoming more difficult for British people to emigrate to countries outside the European Union. Most countries want professional or skilled workers, for example, builders, engineers and doctors. But other skills are also popular in some countries - Australia, for example, needs hairdressers.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

The world of work

Work has changed around the world

Manpower has been a successful employment agency for about 60 years. It has supplied temporary employees to companies since 1948. That's when the first office opened in Milwaukee, in the USA. Two lawyers started the company when they were unable to find temporary help with a project. Today, it is a global company with offices all around the world.

Employment agencies supply companies with different types of workers. These include professional and administrative workers in offices, and manual workers in factories and on building sites. Temporary workers (also called 'temps') now make up between one and three per cent of the total workforce in most countries. Multinational companies have employed temps for a long time. Now smaller companies also use temporary workers.

Have careers changed very much since the 1990s? A decade ago, people expected to work for the same company until they retired. Today, nobody expects a job for life any more. People move from job to job, working in different companies or in different departments. Training is important because it improves workers' skills. This can help employees to find better jobs or get a promotion.

In some jobs there aren't enough skilled workers. Some companies want retired people with skills to return to work. Japan, Australia and Italy have started to employ older workers. Companies need organisations like Manpower to arrange training for older employees, for example to use computers or to work with a younger boss.

The phone of the future

Experts talk about big changes for the telephone

It is easy to imagine what mobile phones will look like in a year or two -they'll probably be smaller. But what will they look like ten or fifteen years from now? Perhaps they'll be so small that we won't be able to see them. Maybe we'll have phones in jewellery such as rings, and fashion items like sunglasses.

People in Japan can already use mobile phones to buy things in shops. In some countries it is also possible to use a phone as a train ticket and office pass. So, what new functions will phones have in the future? One thing that is certain is that phones will do more of the things that PCs do today. Some people also think that we'll use phones as house keys, passports, computer games, maps and video recorders. The phone will be our 'remote control for life'. In a decade's time, many phones will have enough memory to video all of a person's life.

Companies are developing phones built into glasses. This will be useful when looking for directions -a map will appear inside the glass of the lens. Maybe we'll be able to use our phone to label people at a party or conference. We'll never forget a name again.

Some experts think that in the future we'll use our voice instead of our fingers to put data into a phone. Stuart Wolf, a professor at the University of Virginia, predicts that in 20 years' time people will use their thoughts to communicate with each other. We won't need phones at all!

A Jobclub is a place, where long term unemployed people work at finding a job in a professional and systematic way by adopting a businesslike approach. The first Jobclubs, developed from work done in North America, were opened in 1984. They proved popular and successful and the service expanded rapidly. Jobclubs take a bold and positive stance: there is a job available for each member.

Aim: to provide people who are unemployed for 26 weeks or more with facilities to enable them to find the best possible job within the shortest possible time. Jobclubs provide a simple, straightforward approach to help clients find jobs. Jobclub members agree to attend four half days per week. The Jobclub provides use of photocopiers, telephones and typewriters free of charge. Trade magazines and specialist magazines are also available. There may be special types of Jobclubs to help disadvantaged people, i.e. (id est = in other words) former detainees and people nearing release from prison.

Executive and Management Jobclubs are also available in some areas, which provide support for middle and senior managers. The Work Trials can be regarded as an extended interview. Work Trials offer an employer a period of up to 15 days to observe the jobseeker within the workplace. They also give the jobseeker the opportunity to demonstrate their skills and experience to that employer. In addition, they enable the jobseeker to determine their own suitability for that job. Jobplan Workshops are to help people who have been out of work for 12 months or more back into work or training. Jobplan aims to build participants' resilience to setbacks they may encounter whilst looking for work.

Attendance at a Jobplan Workshop gives priority access to ED programmes (education programmes). Job Review Workshops. Aim: to help unemployed people who are unlikely to return to their normal occupation, or who are looking to broaden their jobsearch, make an informed choice of alternative career opportunities. These workshops are particularly suitable for people with professional, executive and managerial backgrounds who have been unemployed for about 13 weeks. Job review workshops are demanding and are particularly suitable for unemployed managers, professional and executive who have been out of work for about 13 weeks; The workshops are facilitated by tutors who can help clients assess what they have to offer in a range of jobs. Participants will have the benefit of a computerized guidance system to help them select the most suitable jobs and men research the most suitable options.

RESUME

A CV (curriculum vitae) is essential if you're applying for a new job or for promotion within your own company, or even to register as a delegate at a conference. Some information might be given in your CV, some in your letter of application - and perhaps some on a Supplementary Information sheet (giving information relevant to the particular job you're applying for). There are no fixed international rules about this: different countries have different practices.

But you can follow some hints by writing your CV:

- Always type it on unlined white paper, preferably a single sheet.
- Write your name, address and telephone number.
- Put your health record, date of birth and marital status.
- In the next section, note down your education. Put any qualifications on the next line.
- Next, detail your work history, starting with your most recent job. Give dates, employers and describe your duties.
- List hobbies and interests and put extra information in a separate section.
- End by saying that two referees are available on request – not naming them leaves you free to choose the best ones for particular jobs. Remember the longer an application, the less chance it has of being read.

- Never send a photo-copied letter – it looks as though you don't care.
- Always be positive and never apologize for being You.

Задание 3.

Определите, какие из нижеперечисленных пунктов могут быть наиболее пригодными для CV (т. е. curriculum vitae):

- Your name, address and telephone number.
- The title and reference number of the job.
- Your date of birth.
- Your marital status.
- The name and address of present (or last) employer.
- Your hobbies and leisure interests.
- The sports you play.
- Details of all the jobs you have had.
- The languages you speak, read or write.
- Details of the examinations you passed at school.
- Details of the professional diplomas or degrees you have gained.
- Details of training courses you have attended.
- Details of your achievements and responsibilities in your working career.
- Your suitability for the job advertised.
- Your reasons for applying for this job.
- When you are available for interview.
- Details of your present (or last) job.
- Your current (or last) salary.
- The salary you would expect to receive.
- The names and addresses of two or three referees.

Mr. Green: What have you been doing for the last seven years? I believe you have had some secretarial and, commercial training.

Elizabeth: Yes, I have. When I left school I went to Barsetshire Technical College and took a course in shorthand-typing, bookkeeping, office practice and some other subjects.

Mr. Green: How long was this course?

Elizabeth: One year.

Mr. Green: And what did you do when you left the technical college?

Elizabeth: I went to work in an insurance company in Liverpool.

A Letter of Application

Dear Sir,

I should like to be considered for the post of Personal Manager at your Croydon factory, which was advertised in the "Sunday Chronicle" on February 15th 2002. The relevant information concerning my education and professional experience is as follows.

From 1980 to 1983 I studied Sociology at the University of Harrogate and graduated with a Second Class Honours Degree (Lower Division) in that subject. The main degree Course was concerned with basic sociological topics, such as the history and theory of sociology, but there were also a number of optional courses available. From amongst these I selected The History of Industrial Sociology and The Psychology of Management. In order to satisfy part of the requirements for my Finals Examination I had to submit a short dissertation involving original research. I wrote a paper on Nineteenth Century Industrial Relations in Yorkshire and for this section of my examination received a mark of distinction.

Whilst at university I took an active part in a number of social activities, and was secretary of both the Drama Society and the Student Sociological Society.

On leaving university I was a student for a year at the North York Business College, where I was successful in obtaining a Diploma in Industrial Management, Class I. Courses at this college covered a wide field relevant to the management studies in general and I was able to supplement my theoretical knowledge with a great deal of practical experience of such things as office management, personnel selection and the development of modification of work schedules. But it was in the area of personnel management and control that I found my interests satisfying fully and I took all available opportunities of increasing my knowledge of theory and practice in this field.

From July 1984, when I left Business College, until September 1988, I was employed as an Assistant Personal Officer with Messrs. James Bradley, at their Leeds factory. The company manufactures a wide range of small components for use in the electronics and motor industries, and employed at that time a Labour force of approximately five hundred men and women.

I enjoyed the work at Bradley's very much, especially in that it kept me closely in touch with both workers and management, but after four years' experience there, and in the absence of any prospects of promotion I applied for the post of Deputy Personal Manager with Yorkshire Engineers Ltd. I began to work there in September 1988 and am still employed in the same post.

My work at Yorkshire Engineers is in many ways similar to that which I was doing previously. The work is absorbing and rewarding, but now I feel that at this stage in my career I should like more responsibility.

In your advertisement you asked applicants to provide information on leisure activities, which may be considered relevant. First, I have continued ever since university to read widely in the literature relevant to my occupation I find time to contribute articles to several of the journals in this field. Details of my publications are provided on an attached sheet. Second, I began doing some voluntary social work while at business college and have gradually extended my commitment in this direction ever since.

I enclose copies of two recent testimonials, and the names and addresses of two people – who are prepared to act as my referees.

I hope that the information I have provided in this letter and the enclosures is sufficient for your purposes, but I shall of course be glad to expand it should you wish.

Yours faithfully,
Robert Drayton

Karen: OK.

Hillary: Right, now I've heard that-the two of you have been complaining a bit... about the extra work you are expected to do. So I thought we could perhaps discuss it and see if we can sort it out. Is that OK?

Karen: Yes, it's a good idea.

Helen: Yes, fine.

Hillary: OK, Karen, can you tell me what your problems are?

Karen: Well, it's just that I can't manage to get through all my marketing work. I just seem to have too many other things to do.

Hillary: Go on.

Karen: Well, first I often have to type letters for the departmental managers.

Hillary: You mean outside marketing?

Karen: Yes, for Mr. Ford, for example. When Katty and Sally

Hillary: I see.

Karen: And then I sometimes have to type up minutes of meetings, which isn't really my job at all.

Hillary: No, that's right. That isn't your job. Anything else?

Karen: Well, then there's the post. Occasionally I'm asked to sort through it.

Hillary: Do you ever have to distribute it?

Karen: No, rarely. I mean Helen does that normally. I only do it when she's away or too busy.

Hillary: And how about dictation?

Karen: Well, that's normally once a day, but that's not too bad because it's usually in marketing – so I don't mind. It's really all the other jobs that I get.

Hillary: I see, so the problems are mainly the letters - and typing the minutes.

Karen: Yes, I suppose so.

Hillary: OK. Helen, what about you?

Helen: Well, at the moment! always distribute the mail. But I thought it would be shared – not always me.

Hillary: I see. And what about sorting?

Helen: Well, I do that twice a day, but it doesn't take -very long. And any way, that's part of my normal job.

Hillary: And what about meetings taking minutes or typing them?

Helen: Well, I take minutes at the board meeting every month... and again that's part of my job. But I'm also asked to type up minutes from other meetings.

Hillary: How often?

Helen: I suppose I get some every week to type up... and they're not from marketing.

Hillary: I see. And how about dictation and letters?

Helen: Well, I suppose I do a dictation daily ... but it's often for other managers. I mean they just walk in and...

Hillary: OK, Helen. I understand. And what about letters?

Helen: I rarely type letters these days. I never have time.

Hillary: I see. So I suppose you just give them to Karen.

Helen: Well, not exactly give them...

Hillary: Alice, are you busy?

Alice: As usual. But what can I do for you?

Hillary: I've just opened the suggestions box, and I wanted to have a word with you about some of the suggestions.

Alice: OK.

Hillary: The first one is about the morning tea break. At present it's at 11.00, and the suggestion is to change it to 10.30.

Alice: Well, and what do you think?

Hillary: I think we should have it a bit earlier, if that's OK.

Alice: I have no objections at all.

Hillary: Good. The second one is about the printer.

Alice: Another complaint about the noise?

Hillary: Afraid so.

Alice: Well, we can't replace it. But it might be a good idea to fit a better cover so that it isn't as noisy.

Hillary: OK, I'll investigate. Right, the next one says 'What about having a non-smoking office?'

Alice: A nice idea, but unfortunately unrealistic with so many people working in the same office. But why don't you talk informally to the office staff and see if the smokers can agree to smoke outside the office or something?

Hillary: OK, I'll do that. The next one is about flextime. Don't you think we should consider it? Most of the other companies in Southtown have already introduced it.

Alice: I'm afraid the Managing Director has already said no to that one, and I agree with him for the moment. I think we should look at it again next year.

Hillary: Fine. OK, just two more. How about a company Christmas party?

Alice: Yes, I'm all in favor. We've got plenty of time if we start thinking about it now. Why don't you start planning after the summer?

Hillary: OK, I'll enjoy organizing that. And finally, there's a suggestion about reorganizing the furniture in the main office. The secretaries all say that they are very cramped. Don't you think we should do something about it?

Alice: Yes, absolutely It's been on my mind for quite a while now. I suggest that we have a word with Christine Adams, the Office Manager, and see what can be done.

Hillary: Good, that's all. Thanks very much.

Тип занятия: практическое занятие

КОНТРОЛЬНЫЕ ВОПРОСЫ:

1. Are good relationships between colleagues important? Why?

Задание 1. Внимательно прочитайте диалог между Hillary Beacham и госпожой Wright. Ответьте на следующие вопросы:

- What kind of job is Mrs. Wright looking for?
- Where did she work before?
- What does Hillary Beacham do (in the company)?

H.B.: I think I'd better take this opportunity to explain to you exactly who's who in the company. You'll need to know who to go to if you want to contact a particular manager. Let's start right at the top: David Burton is the Managing Director and his Personal Assistant is Mary Wilkins. The company is divided into four departments: Production, Personnel, Marketing und Finance. OK?

W.: Right. Let's deal with each one in turn. Michael Stout looks after Production, and his title is Production Manager, and Daniel Harkin works as Personal Assistant in the Production Department. Then there are two secretaries. Is that so?

H.B.: Yes.

W.: Moving on to Personnel, we've got Sheila Polson, and her title is Personnel Director. Jane Hargreaves works for Sheila Polson as Personal Assistant. And then there are two secretaries in the department. OK?

H.B.: Yes, fine. As you know, I'm the Marketing Manager and for the next two months you are going to work as my Personal Assistant. Helen Wright and Karen Williams, the two secretaries in the department, will report to you. Is that clear? And finally... Paul Cummins is responsible for the Finance Department. His PA (Personal Assistant) is Judith Walker. And then there are three secretaries in the department. You've met one already. I think. So that's a brief overview of the structure of the company. Do you have any questions?..

Задание 2. Прочитайте внимательно текст, в котором речь идет о том, каким должен быть современный руководитель. Свое мнение высказывают три члена комиссии: Джон Рейнолдс, Марк Причард, Сюзен Стейнтон. Продолжите обсуждение кандидатур, используя модели диалога.

Reporter: In the second part of this interview I'd like to ask each of• you in turn what you consider to be the three most important qualities for a good manager. Perhaps we could hear your ideas first, Mr. Reynolds.

Reynolds: I think that at present the most important quality is the ability to deal with other people. I know we are a manufacturing industry, but I feel very strongly that we also have a great responsibility towards our personnel. Secondly... let me see. Yes, in my opinion the second most important quality is the ability to talk to our personnel about their jobs, their futures, their problems, etc. To be able to relate to them, you know. And thirdly... I suppose I'd put adaptability as the third most important quality. I think that fits in with the other two points I mentioned to give my idea of a good manager.

Reporter: Thank you for your opinions, Mr. Reynolds. Perhaps we could hear your views now, Mr. Pritchard.

Pritchard: I consider the present situation requires a rather different approach to the whole question of management and therefore different qualities for managers. I believe that a good manager is one who can persuade people that his way is right. Isn't that why he is a manager? Getting people to accept his decisions and to follow his leadership – that, in my view, is the mark of a good manager. Secondly, I feel that he should be firm with his people – that's how they'll come to respect him. And thirdly,... I'm of the opinion that he should be physically fit. In this day and age the pressures and strains are so great that only the fittest can survive, and those are the ones who should be the managers. Mentally competent. Yes, but physically competent, also.

Reporter: Thanks, Mr. Pritchard. Could we hear what you think, Mrs. Stainton?

Stainton: Yes, certainly. I think my views probably represent a mixture of synthesis of my colleagues' opinions. The most important quality is, in my opinion, the ability to think flexibly – to find new answers and new solutions. Secondly, I feel that as managers we should be able to handle people, as I'm sure that for the company good labor relations mean a happy and secure future. But this doesn't mean that we should be too lenient or too dogmatic. No, the third quality should be, in my view, the ability to direct and control people effectively.

Reporter: Thank you all for your opinions.

Hints for the Office Manager or the Boss

You need not go around proving you're the boss if you are. So here are some suggestions:

- Don't order, ask and be polite! It amounts to the same thing, but it sounds – and works – better.
- Remember that people work with you? Not for you. People like to be spoken of as associates, not as slaves.
- Keep your promises. It's important to make note of every promise whether it is important or something you think less important.
- Criticize, if you must, only in private – and do it objectively. Never criticize anyone in public or in anger. And that goes for the mail clerk's well as you're your assistant.

The Secretary

In most companies a secretary is hired strictly for business. If you have so little office work for her that she has time to manage your (or her own) personal affairs, you don't need a secretary.

If you ask her to do something which is beyond the scope of her regular office work, realize that you ask a favor. However, this puts your relationship on a more personal basis...

Drawing room manners are out of place in an office, and you are not expected to jump to your feet and hold a chair for your secretary every time she comes into your office. But take care not to treat her as if she were nobody.

You should say a pleasant "Good morning" when you come in and "Please" and "Thank you" at every opportunity; don't expect her to carry in the chairs for your meeting; show a little interest in her health and mood.

Note: When you go out, let her know where you're going, how you can be reached and when you expect to return. She needs the information to fill for you in your absence.

This is what you should expect of your secretary:

- Polite handling of your telephone calls.
- Courteous handling of your visitors.

When someone has a definite appointment with you, he should not be kept waiting but should be shown to your office at precisely the time agreed upon.

But if you are really busy, your secretary should go out to your visitor in person, explain your absence, convey your apologies and then give a definite idea of how much delay is inevitable.

If the visitor chooses to wait, your secretary should then make sure that he is comfortable. It is by no means necessary for her to "entertain" the visitor. She should go on with her work as soon as she has seen that he is comfortable.

Layout of Commercial Correspondence

Business letters exchanged by commercial firms, companies, publishing houses, institutions, etc. are usually written on business letterheads with the name and address of the firm or office already printed above the letter.

The usual layout for the official business letter today is known as the blocked style. In this style all new lines of typing are ranged to the left including paragraph openings and the concluding salutation. There is no punctuation in the address and the greetings. The same style is followed on the envelope.

This streamline style is considered to be efficient, modern and is designed to save the typist time.

However, there are companies and firms which favor the indented or step form style. In this style paragraph openings are indented, the address and greetings are punctuated. The complimentary close and signature are in the middle or even on the right.

The indented style in business letters now has somewhat a traditional appearance, though it can look more balanced, especially for personal letters.

Following are some business letters written on letterheads in the modern streamline block style.

1st October, 200..,

Dear Sir,

I am writing to ask you if you have a vacancy on your staff for an assistant accountant.

I am twenty-two years of age and have been working in the costing department of the Bedford Furnishing Company, Bedford House; London, E.C.I.", for the past two years. I am studying Accountancy and Business Management at the Polytechnic and wish to complete my course there, which has another two years to run.

КОНТРОЛЬНЫЕ ВОПРОСЫ:

1. What is management?
2. Who is a manager?

Задание 1. Постарайтесь понять текст без словаря. Кратко перескажите его основное содержание.

The management of the company is called the Board of Directors (not Managers) headed by the Chairman (= the President Am.). There is usually a Managing Director and in the case of big companies there may be several Joint Managing Directors.

A Manager in British companies is the person who is head of a department – Sales, Export, Works (Production), Staff, etc. So there are Sales Managers, Export Managers, Works (Production) Managers, Staff Managers, etc.

A general Manager has managers, working under his control, and receives his instructions from the Managing Director.

By British Company Law (the Companies Acts of 1948 and 1985) a limited company (public or private) must have a Company Secretary whose duties are manifold. First he is the clerk to the Directors: he is to keep Registers of Directors and Members, arrange for proceedings at Directors' and shareholder's meetings, prepare notices for the calling of these meetings, attend them and advise directors at board meetings on the legal, accounting and tax implications of any proposed business move as well as keep minutes and write reports (the minutes of a meeting are usually concise records of resolutions or decisions reached, and the reports are more extensive and give details of discussions, arguments for or against the resolutions, and so on), Second he represents his company and in this capacity he supervises the working of the staff and the maintenance of staff records (if there is no special staff manager) finally he is often responsible for the accounting and handling of contracts. Thus he is the link between the company and the members, between the company and the staff and between the company and the public.

The Company Secretary must be a properly qualified person, and be able to fulfill his routine duties well. He is supposed to have training in company law, accountancy and many other subjects. He is expected to be a part-lawyer, part-economist, part-administrator and part-accountant.

But it takes a good deal more than professional qualifications to make a good company secretary: "he must be businessman and humanitarian, lawyer and visionary" (as one of the English newspapers puts it).

Задание 7. Прочитайте фрагмент вступительной речи управляющего по кадрам перед группой секретарей, начинающих работать в компании (Personnel Manager — P.M.; Secretary — S.). В чем, по-вашему, основные сложности в организации работы?

P.M.: Good morning, I'd like to welcome you to our organization. Now you all know which departments you are going to, but before you go off I am going to tell you a little bit about us and about the rules and regulations which we try to adhere to. And the reason why we have these rules is that they help us all to know what we can do, what we must do, and what we shouldn't do – and in the long run make this a happy place to work.

S.: And what can you tell us about flextime system?

P.M.: First of all the flextime system. Most of you can choose what time you are going to start and finish. However, you must all be here for core time which is from 10 till 3. You should all work for a minimum of 37 hours a week and not more than 41 hours. If you look at your job descriptions you'll see that you should put in an average of 38 hours a week. This means you can put in up to an extra 2 hours per week. However, at the end of a month you shouldn't have more than 10 hours overtime, because only 10 hours can be claimed, is that clear?

S.: We would like also know about daily working hours.

P.M.: As far as your daily working hours are concerned, you should tell the departmental heads on the Friday, what times you are going to start the following week. You need's start each day at the same time; but you must be here between 10 and 3, and you mustn't put in less than 37 hours in a week. And one more point, you needn't specify in advance what time you are going to finish.

S.: How long does our holiday last?

P.M.: You all have 18 days holiday a year. Ten of these 18 days must be taken during July when the company will be closed. The other eight days may be taken in either one or two installments, for example five days and three days or six days and two days, etc. But you can't have eight separate single days off or four 2-day periods off.

S.: Could you possibly tell us about lunch hours? We have a canteen here where you can have lunch. Lunch tickets are on sale on Monday mornings only and this means you must buy your tickets then for the rest of the week. The canteen is open between 12.30 and 2 o'clock and there are two sittings. You should decide on Monday which sitting you are going to attend and tell the supervisor when you buy your tickets. So, any more questions about these three points – flextime, holidays and lunch – before I move on to the next matter?

Задание 8. Прочитайте по ролям диалог и кратко перескажите его содержание.

Allocating the Budget

Chairperson: Well, let's move on to Point 5 on the agenda – the allocation of the 660,000 donated by George Smethurst. We've had 5 proposals put forward, which you've all got on your agendas.

Well, who'd like to start the ball rolling? Yes, Bill.

Bill: Well, I think there are two key areas where improvements are really necessary and where I think we should spend the money. These are, firstly, office accommodations and the workshop. I'd like to suggest that the money be equally allocated between these two areas.

Chairperson: Charles, I can see from your frown that you don't agree.

Charles: It's not that I disagree entirely with what Bill has suggested. I think it's certainly a good idea to spend some of the money on improving the workshops – and I'm all in favor of that. But I don't think that office accommodations is a priority at the moment, and therefore I'm not, really for spending money on that. What I do feel we should allocate the money to is improving the company's recreational facilities.

Chairperson: Thanks, Charles. And what do you think, Mike?

Mike: Well, if you ask me, I don't think we need to worry about either the workshops or the recreation area, and I am firmly against spending money on those two proposals. What I would like to see is something done about the canteen – and the Food served in it.

Chairperson: Mary, you look ready to say something.

Mary: Yes. I can't possibly agree to Mike's proposal about the canteen. The food, in my opinion, is certainly adequate and I don't see why we need to spend any money on food. It's not intended to be a three-star restaurant. If they don't like the food here, and remember it's subsidized by US, they can always make their own arrangements. I'm inclined to agree with Bill – that we should spend the money on the workshops and the office accommodations.

Chairperson: Thanks, Mary. Susan.

Susan: I'm inclined to agree with Mary's idea about spending the money on the workshop, but I'm rather against improving office accommodations at the moment. Not that it doesn't need it. It does. But it's rather a luxury. Now you may think my ideas are rather bizarre, but I think we should seriously consider investing some of the money – perhaps in antiques or paintings. You may well smile, but a little outside investment will at least give us something to fall back on.

Chairperson: I think the best thing to do now would be to vote on the issue. All those in favor.

Задание 9. Используйте данные выражения в собственных диалогах:

- I think we should spend the money on office accommodations.
- I think some of the money should be spent on the canteen.
- I think we should spend most of the money on the workshop.
- I think all of the money (should) be spent on the recreation area.
- I suggest that a little of the money should be spent on the canteen.
- I think we should spend most of the money on office accommodations.
- I suggest we spend most of the money on antiques.
- I think the canteen needs urgent attention.
- I suggest we pay attention to the recreation area as well.
- I think the workshop is in a disgusting condition.
- I think the best thing we could do at the moment is invest the money in a bank.
- I suggest we also invest some of the money in paintings.
- I think that a new recreation area will solve all our problems.
- I suggest that the working conditions should first be improved.

- I think we should have more workers on the Board of Management.

Задание 10. Прочитайте по ролям диалог между служащим фирмы (А.) и менеджером (В.). Составьте сами подобный диалог.

A.: Well, it's a management meeting so the distribution list is all departmental managers and the managing director.

B.: How many items have we got for the agenda?

A.: I've got four. And then I've received some suggestions from the other managers. Those are on that piece of paper there. We'll have to see how many of those can be included with the time we have available. So, firstly, I'll present the European marketing effort.

B.: So what should I put on the agenda?

A.: Call that one "Marketing report: European market".

B.: Right – "Marketing report: European market".

A.: Now I think that'll take about 45 minutes with questions. We mustn't let it go on too long. Once we've discussed that, we'll go on to consider the Far East market. So put that down as the second point on the agenda: "Marketing report: Far East market".

B.: OK – "Marketing report: Far East market". And thirdly?

A.: Next we'll get onto the forthcoming advertising campaign. Oh, and before I forget, will you remember to get those advertising proofs out of the file for me and leave them on my desk, please?

B.: Certainly. So, what's the last thing on the agenda? By the way, what about this suggestion for an item on "Review of market research activities"?

A.: Oh thanks, Hillary. Yes, we should try and include that. Right – put "Review of market research activities" third.

B.: OK. That means that we'll take the advertising campaign fourth?

A.: Yes. So forth we've got the advertising campaign. B.: What should I call it on the agenda?

A.: Let's call it "Advertising". No, "Advertising campaign". Have you got that?

B.: Yes, "Advertising campaign".

A.: The last thing I've got for the agenda is the computerization of the market research program. But perhaps we can take the item on "Investment in new equipment" fifth. Yes, let's do that. So, fifth we've got "Investment in new equipment". OK?

B.: So, point 5 is "Investment in new equipment".

A.: So that just leaves "Computerization of the market research program" as my final point for the agenda. In fact I doubt if we'll have time for anything else.

B.: So finally we've got "Computerization of the market research program".

A.: Yes. And then don't forget to add AOB. Then we can mention the other points that we haven't had time to discuss and decide when we are going to go over them.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

Foreign Languages in the Life of an Educated Person

Today it is quite evident that everyone should know at least one foreign language.

Knowing one or more foreign languages makes it possible to get acquainted with different ways of thinking, to understand a new civilization. Learning a foreign language stimulates mental abilities and gives you a chance to appreciate a new literature, a different culture and to broaden your horizons.

Besides, knowing foreign languages has a practical value. It makes it easier to choose a profession and provides job promotion. It helps to improve the quality of your work, because it reduces the time lost on obtaining the necessary information. At present many professions, such as a pilot, a doctor, an engineer, a cosmonaut and many others, require a working knowledge of at least one foreign language.

People all over the world speak almost 3,000 languages. Some languages are spoken by millions of people, others by only hundreds of them. The most widespread language in the world is Chinese. 350 million people speak English as their first language. About the same number use it as a second language. Russian is also one of the most prevalent, expressive and rich languages in the world. 240 million people speak Russian nowadays.

Among the great number of languages that exist on our planet today there are some which stand out. Scientists distinguish 13 great languages. These are the languages that are spoken by no less than 50 per cent of people on the Earth. They are Chinese, English, Russian, Spanish, Hindi and Urdu, Indonesian, Arabic, Bengali, Portuguese, Japanese, German, French, Italian.

A person who knows these languages can speak to and understand almost 2 thousand million people and doesn't suffer from the language barrier. To state the significance of this or that language one must take into consideration not only its prevalence but the quantity of printed production. For instance, the largest number of books is published in Russian including technical literature. The greatest number of press production is published in English. As far as books are concerned, the largest number of them is translated from English, Russian, French and German accordingly.

Today there are a lot of people in Europe and Asia who know several languages. A person who knows several languages is called a polyglot. They are not few. The name of Henrich Schlimann, a famous German archaeologist who discovered Troy is known all over the world. It took him two years to learn the first two foreign languages. Later on it took him several weeks to master another foreign language. Among polyglots there are champions. Thus, Cardinal Mezzophanti who lived in the middle of the last century knew 100 languages. Professor Hesstermann from Germany knew 132 languages. The more languages man knows the easier is the way he masters a new one. As polyglots say it is difficult to begin. But when you start learning a third language «everything is going on swimmingly». It is within everyone's power to know, read and speak a foreign language. But one should regard learning a foreign language as a very important and serious task. The knowledge of other languages is very useful, especially if you have to work abroad or if you must read foreign literature in the original. If you know the language of a foreign country, you can talk to its people and understand what they are speaking about without anybody's help. The knowledge of foreign languages also helps young people of different countries to develop friendship.

Many people are learning English, because in the recent years it has become not only an international language, it is now a number one language in the world. Besides, English is becoming a lingua franca. It is used a great deal by businessmen from different countries, which don't have a common language, in order to do business. It is already a lingua franca at international conferences. Besides, every person who travels in Europe, Asia or Africa, even in the South America gets around by using English. So English is becoming more and more the "language for practical use".

English has become the world's most important language in politics, science, trade and cultural relations, aviation, international sport and pop music. It is nowadays second only to Chinese. It is the official language in 44 countries: the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, the United States of America, Australia, New Zealand and others. It is used as one of the official languages in Canada, the Irish Republic. It is also spoken as a second language by many people in India, Pakistan and numerous countries in Africa, to say nothing of people all over the world who know English as a foreign language. From the British Isles English spread all over the world. 75 per cent of the world's mail is in English, 60 per cent of the world's radio stations broadcast in English and more than a half of the world's periodicals are printed in English.

It is known that different languages can come into fashion or go out of it. It is generally considered that the most fashionable language in the world nowadays is English. Spanish also becomes very popular. It is learnt nowadays more often than earlier. Oriental languages are also widespread today. Learning a foreign language has a practical value but the choice of a foreign language sometimes depends on a fashion (this fashion turns out to be the demands of life and society). Thus, the knowledge of a foreign language today is a life necessity.

Education in Russia

All Russian children have the right to education, but it is not only a right, it is a duty, too. Education in our country is compulsory and now lasts eleven years. It consists of primary education and secondary education.

Primary education starts at the age of 6 or 7 and continues for four years. After finishing primary school pupils go on to secondary school. The school year starts in September and ends in May. Generally there 4 school terms with holidays up to 10 days between them. The summer holidays last from June to September.

Most schools in Russia are comprehensive, which take pupils of all abilities without entrance exams. As a rule, students go to school 5 days a week. But there are also specialized schools, lyceums and gymnasiums, which give profound knowledge in various academic subjects. In lyceums and gymnasiums students study 6 days a week.

After finishing the 9th form students must take 4 examinations. Then young people can choose to stay at school, enter a college or a technical school. But to enter a university they have to study for two more years (either at school or at college).

Higher education in Russia.

There are many colleges and universities in our country, but it is not easy to enter a university or college as the competition is rather fierce. Most of the colleges and universities are public and students do not have to pay for their education.

After 4 years of study students can pass examinations and get a bachelor's degree, after 5 years a specialist's degree and after 6 years a master's degree.

There are a lot of institutions of higher education in our country:

- the Moscow State University (Московский Государственный Университет)
- the Linguistic University, known as Maurice Thorez Institute of Foreign Languages (Лингвистический Университет, известный как Институт иностранных языков имени Мориса Терезы)
- People's Friendship University of Russia (Российский Университет Дружбы Народов)

They are well-known not only in Russia but also abroad.

Back to School: The First Day of Classes

Most college students tend to share similar feelings of anxiety mixed with hope towards their first day of class. Everyone... even the worst of students... tends to enter "back to school" mode with a genuine sense of motivation. Many of us become ironically eager to purchase new textbooks, to see new teachers, and to adjust to a new schedule. We even convince ourselves that we are going to excel this semester... that we are going to live up to our "full potential" and score perfect marks even if we've never come close to doing so in the past! What could possibly go wrong?

What usually goes wrong is poor planning. Overly-creative, highly intelligent students begin each semester with genuine hope and personal promise but typically end the semester with a sense of underachievement and dissolution that had begun to set in even before mid-terms. How can a student avoid this? Break each semester down into little, sub-goals first. You wouldn't leap up an entire flight of stairs...you'd walk them each one at a time. The same principle applies here: Don't even look at the first quiz or test yet... it's probably still a long way off in the grand scheme of the academic term. Look at the FIRST lesson to be taught. Worry about how to excel at THAT lesson and ONLY at that lesson. Don't think of the mid-term or any other assessment yet to come. Concentrate only on what is to be expected of you in the very next class and focus all of your time and energy on achieving a mastery over that one subtopic. Do this for each class and when it finally does become time for an examination-- you'll hardly need to study... you'll only need to "review." The secret is truly in the psychology and it's far easier said than done... We challenge you to make it happen this year!!!

Exams – How to Deal with Anxiety

Many students have stress, worries and anxieties when thinking about or taking an exam. You should start with attending all of your classes; you will already be partially prepared because of your attendance in the classroom. Complete all of your assignments, these assignments are for your continued understanding of the materials and will aid you in your realizing that the subject is comprehensible by you. Once you have mastered the basics in the classroom and material understanding the rest will come easily. There will never be a guarantee by anyone that you will do well on an exam no matter how much you should study, but in understanding the materials you should feel confident enough to take the exam.

Avoidance of stress in your life should be another top priority as your exam time approaches. Keep regular hours; your body will notice a difference and your mind will be tired if you don't keep regular sleeping habits. This theory also applies to the all-nighters that some students pull. Studying away all-night to complete or cram for a test will deplete your mind and body of you balance until you get the rest you need. Start studying for a test at least two weeks before the exam; giving your self-breaks between studying will help you retain more knowledge. Eating from a regular diet also helps you build concentration and the feeling of self-confidence. If you are eating straight chocolate and chips for a week your body will feel depleted of nutrients needed to keep you motivated.

Keeping your body and mind in tune with your on going classes and studying needs will give you extra motivation needed to conquer an exam. As you prepare to head to class to take the actual exam, make sure you have all of the needed supplies – pens, paper, calculator, and eraser – anything that keeps you in control. Being afraid of the exam or test, it is a normal feeling that many students have and face everyday. You will find that some students need to crack jokes before a test, have a quick jog, or even some may need to take a nap before a big exam to feel relaxed and in control of their feelings as they approach the testing time.

British Universities

There are about 90 universities in Britain. They are divided into three types: the old universities (Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh Universities), the 19th century universities such as London and Manchester universities, and the new universities. Some years ago there were also polytechnics. After graduating from a polytechnic a student got a degree, but it was not a university degree. 31 former polytechnics were given university status in 1992.

Full courses of study offer the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Science. Most degree courses at universities last 3 years, language courses 4 years (including a year spent abroad). Medicine and dentistry courses are longer (5-7 years).

Students may receive grants from their Local Education Authority to help pay for books, accommodation, transport and food. This grant depends on the income of their parents.

Most students live away from home, in flats or halls of residence. Students don't usually have a job during term time because the lessons, called lectures, seminars, classes or tutorials (small groups), are full time. However, many students now have to work in the evenings.

University life is considered «an experience». The exams are competitive but the social life and living away from home are also important. The social life is excellent with a lot of clubs, parties, concerts, bars.

There are not only universities in Britain but also colleges. Colleges offer courses in teacher training, courses in technology and some professions connected with medicine.

Pupils going on to higher education or professional training usually take «A» level examinations in two or three subjects. Universities accept students mainly on the basis of their «A» level results, although they may interview them as well. In 1971 the Open University was started, where these formal qualifications are not necessary. Nearly a quarter of all adult part-time students follow its degree courses on radio and television.

There are forty-seven universities in Britain and thirty former polytechnics (now also universities), plus 350 colleges and institutes of higher education (some of which train teachers).

Undergraduate courses normally take three years of full-time study, although a number of subjects take longer, including medicine, architecture and foreign languages (where courses include a year abroad). They lead in most cases to a Bachelor's degree in Arts or Science. There are various postgraduate degrees, including Master and Doctor of Philosophy. The last two are awarded for research in arts or sciences.

Degrees are awarded either by the institution itself, or by the Council for National Academic Awards, particularly in vocational areas. Students of law, architecture and some other professions can take qualifications awarded by their own professional bodies instead of degrees.

At present, students who have been accepted by universities or other institutions of higher education receive a grant from their local authority, which covers the cost of the course, and may cover living expenses. Parents with higher incomes are expected to make a contribution. Until 1990 the grant did not have to be paid back, but now a system of loans has been introduced.

The most famous universities are Oxford and Cambridge, called «Oxbridge». They are famous for their academic excellence of higher education.

I study at North Caucasus Federal University in Stavropol. It was founded in 1971. It was organized to train specialists for many branches of industry. During the last few years our University has become a large center of higher technical education as well as the center for training specialists in economics, law and linguistics. Fundamental research and applied investigations as well as experimental work are being successfully carried out at the University.

At present the university is a well-organized educational complex and research center possessing a wide range of financial and technical resources. NCFU is actively becoming integrated into the international educational system, participates in international educational projects, and has agreements on cooperation and student exchange with educational and research centers in the USA, Canada, West Europe, South-Eastern Asia and Africa.

The University teaches more than 20 thousand Russian and foreign students yearly in 11 departments by more than 70 specialties in engineering, natural science, economics and humanities.

These departments are: Civil Engineering Department, Economics and Finance Department, Humanities Department, Information Technologies and Telecommunications Department, Law Department, Department of Electronics, Nanotechnologies and Chemical Industry Department, Department of Foodstuffs Biotechnology, Department of Oil and Gas, Department of Power Engineering, Machine Building and Transport.

There are about 800 teachers in our University. Among them, 65 are professors and doctors of science, 7 academicians and corresponding members of RAS, 530 are associate professors and candidates of science. The University takes pride in its highly qualified scientific and pedagogic staff. Among the NCSTU professors are outstanding scholars, doctors of science, full and associate professors, honored scientists of the RF, honored educationalists, full members of Russian and International Academies of different branches.

Today students must assimilate a large quantity of new information which is increasing every day. Lectures and seminars alternate with laboratory works, discussions, research work and self-training.

The academic year begins in September and lasts 10 months till July. There are 3 terms in the course of the academic year, so the students take examinations three times a year. During the terms students have to attend lectures, carry out laboratory tests and practical training. At lectures students listen to the lecturers, take notes and ask questions. In seminars they raise problems and discuss them under the direction of their teachers.

Students of the first and second years study maths, physics, chemistry, foreign languages, elements of machines, mechanical drawing, strength of materials, history, philosophy, psychology etc. From the third year they start to study special subjects and carry out research works in their student scientific societies. Many students get student grant, the sum of money which depends on their success in studies. There are 3 hostels near the main building and the students from other towns and villages can live there paying a small quantity of money for rent.

University complex comprises different educational institutions, libraries, sports facilities and clubs, cultural center, students theater, medical center.

The students take an active part in public life of our University; they issue wall newspapers, give concerts, take part in different conferences and meetings. Each faculty has its own KVN team and they take part in the University championship gathering full concert hall of grateful audience. Students go in for different kinds of sports. Lighting up the world

LED lights help in areas without electricity

Dr Irvine-Halliday is a professor of electrical engineering at the University of Calgary in Canada. Dr Irvine-Halliday went on a walking trip to Nepal in 1997 and he saw that people in the villages used lanterns to light their homes. The lanterns were smelly and dangerous and the light wasn't very bright. Dr Irvine-Halliday wanted to help solve the problem. So, he started the Light Up The World Foundation. It is a charity that gives LED lights to thousands of people around the world.

About 1.6 billion people worldwide don't have electricity. They use oil in their lamps. But it is an expensive fuel. It is also inefficient and causes indoor and outdoor air pollution.

LED lights are an ideal solution to the problem. They only need a little power and this means that people can use them in areas where there is no electricity. They can run on AA batteries, or solar power. LEDs can give up to 100 times more light than lanterns, and they last a long time. When people began to use LED lights, it changed their lives. They increased productivity and it gave them more time to study. It also reduced health problems and accidental fires. Now, it is important to make LEDs less expensive. For example, families in rural Kenya spend about $7 a month on oil for lighting. A solar-powered LED lamp lasts longer, but many people cannot afford the $25 to $50 that the lamps cost to buy. When charities and other organisations find a solution to the price problem, the future could be bright.

Playtime

Toy manufacturers make adults feel young again

Two things are often true about toy production. First, toys are usually made cheaply in low-cost economies. And secondly, toy manufacturers generally need a large population of children to sell their products to. Japan is big, expensive and rich. It also has a low population of children. So, do toys sell badly in the Japanese market?

The surprising answer is no. In fact, 1 _____. One reason that the market is and the toys a success is that 2 _____ are well designed. Another reason is that many manufacturers now market toys to adults as well as children.

Toy makers happily design more and more new toys for adults. Some of the toys are very expensive. There is a walking robot toy that is popular with middle-aged men. It has a 100-page instruction manual and costs ¥126,000 ($1,105). And there is a talking boy doll that is popular with women over 40. Not all the toys use modern technology. 3 _____ that are also popular. One example is a baseball game with small plastic players.

Why are toys so popular with adults? One reason is that modern employees work hard. 4 _____. These toys help people to relax and play. Some of the products now sell well in other countries, too. 5 _____. Toys for adults could soon be in a toyshop near you.

The shy architect

How Ratan Tata is changing India's biggest company

Ratan Tata trained to be an architect. Then he worked for the family firm, the Tata Group - one of the biggest companies in India. It has companies in many different sectors, including the car industry and the steel industry. The company's latest project is producing a car that costs under $3,000.

Mr Tata does not drink or smoke and he does not like publicity. He became chairperson in 1991. At that time, Tata was a difficult organisation to manage. There were more than 300 different companies in the group and some were old-fashioned. Today, there are only 96 companies and the group is more modern.

In the past, it was difficult for Tata to trade outside India because of competition from other countries. Now it exports internationally. The Tata Group is also buying companies in different countries. At the moment, one of the companies in the group, Tata Steel, is trying to buy Corus, a European steel company. But it has a competitor CSN, a Brazilian company, also wants to buy Corus.

Ratan Tata is making changes to the company. Many of these changes help make the group more competitive. But he isn't changing all the group's traditions. For example, the Tata Group still tries to help its workers - the children of Tata's steelworkers first started to have free education in 1917. Two thirds of the Tata Group is owned by charitable foundations, and today they are still helping people in India. Investors sometimes ask: 'Is Tata doing the right thing? Is charity good for business?' But Mr Tata thinks it is possible to help people and be competitive at the same time.

The University teaches more than 20 thousand Russian and foreign students yearly in 11 departments by more than 70 specialties in engineering, natural science, economics and humanities.

These departments are: Civil Engineering Department, Economics and Finance Department, Humanities Department, Information Technologies and Telecommunications Department, Law Department, Department of Electronics, Nanotechnologies and Chemical Industry Department, Department of Foodstuffs Biotechnology, Department of Oil and Gas, Department of Power Engineering, Machine Building and Transport.

Lighting up the world

LED lights help in areas without electricity

Dr Irvine-Halliday is a professor of electrical engineering at the University of Calgary in Canada. Dr Irvine-Halliday went on a walking trip to Nepal in 1997 and he saw that people in the villages used lanterns to light their homes. The lanterns were smelly and dangerous and the light wasn't very bright. Dr Irvine-Halliday wanted to help solve the problem. So, he started the Light Up The World Foundation. It is a charity that gives LED lights to thousands of people around the world.

About 1.6 billion people worldwide don't have electricity. They use oil in their lamps. But it is an expensive fuel. It is also inefficient and causes indoor and outdoor air pollution.

LED lights are an ideal solution to the problem. They only need a little power and this means that people can use them in areas where there is no electricity. They can run on AA batteries, or solar power. LEDs can give up to 100 times more light than lanterns, and they last a long time. When people began to use LED lights, it changed their lives. They increased productivity and it gave them more time to study. It also reduced health problems and accidental fires.

Now, it is important to make LEDs less expensive. For example, families in rural Kenya spend about $7 a month on oil for lighting. A solar-powered LED lamp lasts longer, but many people cannot afford the $25 to $50 that the lamps cost to buy. When charities and other organisations find a solution to the price problem, the future could be bright.

Toy manufacturers make adults feel young again

Two things are often true about toy production. First, toys are usually made cheaply in low-cost economies. And secondly, toy manufacturers generally need a large population of children to sell their products to. Japan is big, expensive and rich. It also has a low population of children. So, do toys sell badly in the Japanese market?

The surprising answer is no. In fact, 1 _____. One reason that the market is and the toys a success is that 2_____are well designed. Another reason is that many manufacturers now market toys to adults as well as children.

Toy makers happily design more and more new toys for adults. Some of the toys are very expensive. There is a walking robot toy that is popular with middle-aged men. It has a 100-page instruction manual and costs ¥126,000 ($1,105). And there is a talking boy doll that is popular with women over 40. Not all the toys use modern technology. 3_____ that are also popular. One example is a baseball game with small plastic players.

The shy architect

How Ratan Tata is changing India's biggest company

Ratan Tata trained to be an architect. Then he worked for the family firm, the Tata Group - one of the biggest companies in India. It has companies in many different sectors, including the car industry and the steel industry. The company's latest project is producing a car that costs under $3,000.

Mr Tata does not drink or smoke and he does not like publicity. He became chairperson in 1991. At that time, Tata was a difficult organisation to manage. There were more than 300 different companies in the group and some were old-fashioned. Today, there are only 96 companies and the group is more modern.

In the past, it was difficult for Tata to trade outside India because of competition from other countries. Now it exports internationally. The Tata Group is also buying companies in different countries. At the moment, one of the companies in the group, Tata Steel, is trying to buy Corus, a European steel company. But it has a competitor CSN, a Brazilian company, also wants to buy Corus.

Ratan Tata is making changes to the company. Many of these changes help make the group more competitive. But he isn't changing all the group's traditions. For example, the Tata Group still tries to help its workers - the children of Tata's steelworkers first started to have free education in 1917. Two thirds of the Tata Group is owned by charitable foundations, and today they are still helping people in India. Investors sometimes ask: 'Is Tata doing the right thing? Is charity good for business?' But Mr Tata thinks it is possible to help people and be competitive at the same time.

Why British people are moving to other countries

More and more Britons are living in other countries. A recent report said that almost 200,000 Britons left the country last year with no plans to return. A British person emigrates every three minutes, and 5.5m British people now live abroad.

Many younger people leave - a lot of students go abroad to study. Older people are usually retired and want a warmer climate to live in. Two thirds of the people that emigrate are workers. Some are managers and others do manual or administrative jobs. Australia is the favourite country for English people to emigrate to. Spain and the USA are also popular.

Why do people leave? Many want to find a better job. A quarter of people say that they want to leave Britain because the cost of living is high. Homeowners with expensive houses can buy a bigger place abroad; young people want to move because houses in other countries are cheaper than in Britain. Research suggests that the quality of life in Britain is worse than in some other countries. But most people leave for positive reasons: many think that living in another country is more interesting -they leave because they want to have a happier life.

It is becoming more difficult for British people to emigrate to countries outside the European Union. Most countries want professional or skilled workers, for example, builders, engineers and doctors. But other skills are also popular in some countries - Australia, for example, needs hairdressers.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

The world of work

Work has changed around the world

Manpower has been a successful employment agency for about 60 years. It has supplied temporary employees to companies since 1948. That's when the first office opened in Milwaukee, in the USA. Two lawyers started the company when they were unable to find temporary help with a project. Today, it is a global company with offices all around the world.

Employment agencies supply companies with different types of workers. These include professional and administrative workers in offices, and manual workers in factories and on building sites. Temporary workers (also called 'temps') now make up between one and three per cent of the total workforce in most countries. Multinational companies have employed temps for a long time. Now smaller companies also use temporary workers.

Have careers changed very much since the 1990s? A decade ago, people expected to work for the same company until they retired. Today, nobody expects a job for life any more. People move from job to job, working in different companies or in different departments. Training is important because it improves workers' skills. This can help employees to find better jobs or get a promotion.

In some jobs there aren't enough skilled workers. Some companies want retired people with skills to return to work. Japan, Australia and Italy have started to employ older workers. Companies need organisations like Manpower to arrange training for older employees, for example to use computers or to work with a younger boss.

The phone of the future

Experts talk about big changes for the telephone

It is easy to imagine what mobile phones will look like in a year or two -they'll probably be smaller. But what will they look like ten or fifteen years from now? Perhaps they'll be so small that we won't be able to see them. Maybe we'll have phones in jewellery such as rings, and fashion items like sunglasses.

People in Japan can already use mobile phones to buy things in shops. In some countries it is also possible to use a phone as a train ticket and office pass. So, what new functions will phones have in the future? One thing that is certain is that phones will do more of the things that PCs do today. Some people also think that we'll use phones as house keys, passports, computer games, maps and video recorders. The phone will be our 'remote control for life'. In a decade's time, many phones will have enough memory to video all of a person's life.

Companies are developing phones built into glasses. This will be useful when looking for directions -a map will appear inside the glass of the lens. Maybe we'll be able to use our phone to label people at a party or conference. We'll never forget a name again.

Some experts think that in the future we'll use our voice instead of our fingers to put data into a phone. Stuart Wolf, a professor at the University of Virginia, predicts that in 20 years' time people will use their thoughts to communicate with each other. We won't need phones at all!

A Jobclub is a place, where long term unemployed people work at finding a job in a professional and systematic way by adopting a businesslike approach. The first Jobclubs, developed from work done in North America, were opened in 1984.

They proved popular and successful and the service expanded rapidly. Jobclubs take a bold and positive stance: there is a job available for each member.

Aim: to provide people who are unemployed for 26 weeks or more with facilities to enable them to find the best possible job within the shortest possible time. Jobclubs provide a simple, straightforward approach to help clients find jobs. Jobclub members agree to attend four half days per week. The Jobclub provides use of photocopiers, telephones and typewriters free of charge. Trade magazines and specialist magazines are also available. There may be special types of Jobclubs to help disadvantaged people, i.e. (id est = in other words) former detainees and people nearing release from prison.

Executive and Management Jobclubs are also available in some areas, which provide support for middle and senior managers. The Work Trials can be regarded as an extended interview. Work Trials offer an employer a period of up to 15 days to observe the jobseeker within the workplace. They also give the jobseeker the opportunity to demonstrate their skills and experience to that employer. In addition, they enable the jobseeker to determine their own suitability for that job. Jobplan Workshops are to help people who have been out of work for 12 months or more back into work or training. Jobplan aims to build participants' resilience to setbacks they may encounter whilst looking for work.

Attendance at a Jobplan Workshop gives priority access to ED programmes (education programmes). Job Review Workshops. Aim: to help unemployed people who are unlikely to return to their normal occupation, or who are looking to broaden their jobsearch, make an informed choice of alternative career opportunities. These workshops are particularly suitable for people with professional, executive and managerial backgrounds who have been unemployed for about 13 weeks. Job review workshops are demanding and are particularly suitable for unemployed managers, professional and executive who have been out of work for about 13 weeks; The workshops are facilitated by tutors who can help clients assess what they have to offer in a range of jobs. Participants will have the benefit of a computerized guidance system to help them select the most suitable jobs and then research the most suitable options.

RESUME

A CV (curriculum vitae) is essential if you're applying for a new job or for promotion within your own company, or even to register as a delegate at a conference. Some information might be given in your CV, some in your letter of application - and perhaps some on a Supplementary Information sheet (giving information relevant to the particular job you're applying for). There are no fixed international rules about this: different countries have different practices.

But you can follow some hints by writing your CV:

- Always type it on unlined white paper, preferably a single sheet.
- Write your name, address and telephone number.
- Put your health record, date of birth and marital status.
- In the next section, note down your education. Put any qualifications on the next line.
- Next, detail your work history, starting with your most recent job. Give dates, employers and describe your duties.
- List hobbies and interests and put extra information in a separate section.
- End by saying that two referees are available on request – not naming them leaves you free to choose the best ones for particular jobs. Remember the longer an application, the less chance it has of being read.
- Never send a photo-copied letter – it looks as though you don't care.
- Always be positive and never apologize for being You.

Задание 3.

Определите, какие из нижеперечисленных пунктов могут быть наиболее пригодными для CV (т. е. curriculum vitae):

- Your name, address and telephone number.
- The title and reference number of the job.
- Your date of birth.
- Your marital status.
- The name and address of present (or last) employer.
- Your hobbies and leisure interests.
- The sports you play.
- Details of all the jobs you have had.
- The languages you speak, read or write.
- Details of the examinations you passed at school.
- Details of the professional diplomas or degrees you have gained.
- Details of training courses you have attended.
- Details of your achievements and responsibilities in your working career.
- Your suitability for the job advertised.
- Your reasons for applying for this job.

- When you are available for interview.
- Details of your present (or last) job.
- Your current (or last) salary.
- The salary you would expect to receive.
- The names and addresses of two or three referees.

Dear Sirs,

I am writing to apply for the post of secretary/ shorthand-typist, which was advertised in today's "News". Since leaving the Technical College, I have been working in an insurance office in Liverpool. For the past two years I have been secretary to the Assistant Manager, Claims Department. For the personal reasons, however, I should like to find employment in the Tilport area.

I enclose a copy of the certificate that I obtained from the Bassetshire Technical College. I can also refer you to the following persons for information as to my character and ability. You may also apply to my present employers if you wish. Their name and addresses are:

Elizabeth: Twenty-four, sir.

Mr. Green: I see. So you left school about seven years ago. What were your best subjects at school?

Elizabeth: English and history. I liked French, too. And art. I didn't like mathematics or science much. Chemistry was my worst subject.

Mr. Green: Mathematics is sometimes very useful in office work.

Elizabeth: Oh, well. I can do simple arithmetic and I have studied bookkeeping.

Mr. Green: What have you been doing for the last seven years? I believe you have had some secretarial and, commercial training.

Elizabeth: Yes, I have. When I left school I went to Barsetshire Technical College and took a course in shorthand-typing, bookkeeping, office practice and some other subjects.

Mr. Green: How long was this course?

Elizabeth: One year.

Mr. Green: And what did you do when you left the technical college?

Elizabeth: I went to work in an insurance company in Liverpool.

Mr. Green: Did you stay there long?

Elizabeth: I have been there for six years. I'm still working there.

Mr. Green: You have been in the same office ever since you left the technical college?

Elizabeth: Yes, I have.

A Letter of Application

Dear Sir,

I should like to be considered for the post of Personal Manager at your Croydon factory, which was advertised in the "Sunday Chronicle" on February 15th 2002. The relevant information concerning my education and professional experience is as follows.

From 1980 to 1983 I studied Sociology at the University of Harrogate and graduated with a Second Class Honours Degree (Lower Division) in that subject. The main degree Course was concerned with basic sociological topics, such as the history and theory of sociology, but there were also a number of optional courses available. From amongst these I selected The History of Industrial Sociology and The Psychology of Management. In order to satisfy part of the requirements for my Finals Examination I had to submit a short dissertation involving original research. I wrote a paper on Nineteenth Century Industrial Relations in Yorkshire and for this section of my examination received a mark of distinction.

Whilst at university I took an active part in a number of social activities, and was secretary of both the Drama Society and the Student Sociological Society.

On leaving university I was a student for a year at the North York Business College, where I was successful in obtaining a Diploma in Industrial Management, Class I. Courses at this college covered a wide field relevant to the management studies in general and I was able to supplement my theoretical knowledge with a great deal of practical experience of such things as office management, personnel selection and the development of modification of work schedules. But it was in the area of personnel management and control that I found my interests satisfying fully and I took all available opportunities of increasing my knowledge of theory and practice in this field.

From July 1984, when I left Business College, until September 1988, I was employed as an Assistant Personal Officer with Messrs. James Bradley, at their Leeds factory. The company manufactures a wide range of small components for use in the electronics and motor industries, and employed at that time a Labour force of approximately five hundred men and women.

I enjoyed the work at Bradley's very much, especially in that it kept me closely in touch with both workers and management, but after four years' experience there, and in the absence of any prospects of promotion I applied for the post of Deputy Personal Manager with Yorkshire Engineers Ltd. I began to work there in September 1988 and am still employed in the same post.

My work at Yorkshire Engineers is in many ways similar to that which I was doing previously. The work is absorbing and rewarding, but now I feel that at this stage in my career I should like more responsibility.

In your advertisement you asked applicants to provide information on leisure activities, which may be considered relevant. First, I have continued ever since university to read widely in the literature relevant to my occupation I find time to contribute articles to several of the journals in this field. Details of my publications are provided on an attached sheet. Second, I began doing some voluntary social work while at business college and have gradually extended my commitment in this direction ever since.

I enclose copies of two recent testimonials, and the names and addresses of two people – who are prepared to act as my referees.

I hope that the information I have provided in this letter and the enclosures is sufficient for your purposes, but I shall of course be glad to expand it should you wish.

Yours faithfully,
Robert Drayton

Staff suggestions

Some secretaries would like to leave earlier on (days other than Thursdays as the shops do not stay open later and so are fuller. Clerical staff are prepared to work during the present lunch hour. An extension of working hours is acceptable if they are credited later. One department has proposed a "pairing" system, where you always have someone else to cover for you in your absence.

Staff requests

There are a number of part-time workers, all women, about 25% of the office staff, who would prefer to work the majority of their 17 hours in the mornings. Hillary: We are going open plan.

Susan: Does that mean we're going to be sharing a room with the bosses?

Hillary: No, not exactly, but we're going to share the office with some of the other secretaries. It's all part of the new development, but the bosses haven't agreed on the details yet.

Susan: I suppose that with the new extension going up, there will be some more jobs.

Hillary: Have you seen the plans?

Susan: Yes, it's going to be huge.

Hillary: Karen, have you got a few minutes? I'd like to have a word with you.

Karen: Yes, of course, Hillary.

Hillary: And is Helen around?

Karen: Yes, she's just gone over to Finance. She'll be back in a minute... oh, here she is now.

Hillary: Helen, could I have a word with you and Karen?

Helen: Yes, of course.

Hillary: OK. Let's go into Alice's office. She's away today, and then we can talk a bit more privately.

Helen: OK.

Karen: OK.

Hillary: Right, now I've heard that-the two of you have been complaining a bit... about the extra work you are expected to do. So I thought we could perhaps discuss it and see if we can sort it out. Is that OK?

Karen: Yes, it's a good idea.

Helen: Yes, fine.

Hillary: OK, Karen, can you tell me what your problems are?

Karen: Well, it's just that I can't manage to get through all my marketing work. I just seem to have too many other things to do.

Hillary: Go on.

Karen: Well, first I often have to type letters for the departmental managers.

Hillary: You mean outside marketing?

Karen: Yes, for Mr. Ford, for example. When Katty and Sally

Hillary: I see.

Karen: And then I sometimes have to type up minutes of meetings, which isn't really my job at all.

Hillary: No, that's right. That isn't your job. Anything else?

Karen: Well, then there's the post. Occasionally I'm asked to sort through it.

Hillary: Do you ever have to distribute it?

Karen: No, rarely. I mean Helen does that normally. I only do it when she's away or too busy.

Hillary: And how about dictation?

Karen: Well, that's normally once a day, but that's not too bad because it's usually in marketing – so I don't mind. It's really all the other jobs that I get.

Hillary: I see, so the problems are mainly the letters - and typing the minutes.

Karen: Yes, I suppose so.

Hillary: OK. Helen, what about you?

Helen: Well, at the moment! always distribute the mail. But I thought it would be shared – not always me.

Hillary: I see. And what about sorting?

Helen: Well, I do that twice a day, but it doesn't take -very long. And any way, that's part of my normal job.

Hillary: And what about meetings taking minutes or typing them?

Helen: Well, I take minutes at the board meeting every month... and again that's part of my job. But I'm also asked to type up minutes from other meetings.

Hillary: How often?

Helen: I suppose I get some every week to type up... and they're not from marketing.

Hillary: I see. And how about dictation and letters?

Helen: Well, I suppose I do a dictation daily ... but it's often for other managers. I mean they just walk in and...

Hillary: OK, Helen. I understand. And what about letters?

Helen: I rarely type letters these days. I never have time.

Hillary: I see. So I suppose you just give them to Karen.

Helen: Well, not exactly give them...

Hillary: Alice, are you busy?

Alice: As usual. But what can I do for you?

Hillary: I've just opened the suggestions box, and I wanted to have a word with you about some of the suggestions.

Alice: OK.

Hillary: The first one is about the morning tea break. At present it's at 11.00, and the suggestion is to change it to 10.30.

Alice: Well, and what do you think?

Hillary: I think we should have it a bit earlier, if that's OK.

Alice: I have no objections at all.

Hillary: Good. The second one is about the printer.

Alice: Another complaint about the noise?

Hillary: Afraid so.

Alice: Well, we can't replace it. But it might be a good idea to fit a better cover so that it isn't as noisy.

Hillary: OK, I'll investigate. Right, the next one says 'What about having a non-smoking office?'

Alice: A nice idea, but unfortunately unrealistic with so many people working in the same office. But why don't you talk informally to the office staff and see if the smokers can agree to smoke outside the office or something?

Hillary: OK, I'll do that. The next one is about flextime. Don't you think we should consider it? Most of the other companies in Southtown have already introduced it.

Alice: I'm afraid the Managing Director has already said no to that one, and I agree with him for the moment. I think we should look at it again next year.

Hillary: Fine. OK, just two more. How about a company Christmas party?

Alice: Yes, I'm all in favor. We've got plenty of time if we start thinking about it now. Why don't you start planning after the summer?

Hillary: OK, I'll enjoy organizing that. And finally, there's a suggestion about reorganizing the furniture in the main office. The secretaries all say that they are very cramped. Don't you think we should do something about it?

Alice: Yes, absolutely. It's been on my mind for quite a while now. I suggest that we have a word with Christine Adams, the Office Manager, and see what can be done.

Hillary: Good, that's all. Thanks very much.

КОНТРОЛЬНЫЕ ВОПРОСЫ:

1. Are good relationships between colleagues important? Why?

Задание 1. Внимательно прочитайте диалог между Hillary Beacham и госпожой Wright. Ответьте на следующие вопросы:

- What kind of job is Mrs. Wright looking for?
- Where did she work before?
- What does Hillary Beacham do (in the company)?

H.B.: I think I'd better take this opportunity to explain to you exactly who's who in the company. You'll need to know who to go to if you want to contact a particular manager. Let's start right at the top: David Burton is the Managing Director and his Personal Assistant is Mary Wilkins. The company is divided into four departments: Production, Personnel, Marketing und Finance. OK?

W.: Right. Let's deal with each one in turn. Michael Stout looks after Production, and his title is Production Manager, and Daniel Harkin works as Personal Assistant in the Production Department. Then there are two secretaries. Is that so?

H.B.: Yes.

W.: Moving on to Personnel, we've got Sheila Polson, and her title is Personnel Director. Jane Hargreaves works for Sheila Polson as Personal Assistant. And then there are two secretaries in the department. OK?

H.B.: Yes, fine. As you know, I'm the Marketing Manager and for the next two months you are going to work as my Personal Assistant. Helen Wright and Karen Williams, the two secretaries in the department, will report to you. Is that clear? And finally... Paul Cummins is responsible for the Finance Department. His PA (Personal Assistant) is Judith Walker. And then there are three secretaries in the department. You've met one already. I think. So that's a brief overview of the structure of the company. Do you have any questions?..

Задание 2. Прочитайте внимательно текст, в котором речь идет о том, каким должен быть современный руководитель. Свое мнение высказывают три члена комиссии: Джон Рейнолдс, Марк Причард, Сюзен Стейнтон. Продолжите обсуждение кандидатур, используя модели диалога.

Reporter: In the second part of this interview I'd like to ask each of• you in turn what you consider to be the three most important qualities for a good manager. Perhaps we could hear your ideas first, Mr. Reynolds.

Reynolds: I think that at present the most important quality is the ability to deal with other people. I know we are a manufacturing industry, but I feel very strongly that we also have a great responsibility towards our personnel. Secondly... let me see. Yes, in my opinion the second most important quality is the ability to talk to our personnel about their jobs, their futures, their problems, etc. To be able to relate to them, you know. And thirdly... I suppose I'd put adaptability as the third most important quality. I think that fits in with the other two points I mentioned to give my idea of a good manager.

Reporter: Thank you for your opinions, Mr. Reynolds. Perhaps we could hear your views now, Mr. Pritchard.

Pritchard: I consider the present situation requires a rather different approach to the whole question of management and therefore different qualities for managers. I believe that a good manager is one who can persuade people that his way is right. Isn't that why he is a manager? Getting people to accept his decisions and to follow his leadership – that, in my view, is the mark of a good manager. Secondly, I feel that he should be firm with his people – that's how they'll come to respect him. And thirdly,... I'm of the opinion that he should be physically fit. In this day and age the pressures and strains are so great that only the fittest can survive, and those are the ones who should be the managers. Mentally competent. Yes, but physically competent, also.

Reporter: Thanks, Mr. Pritchard. Could we hear what you think, Mrs. Stainton?

Stainton: Yes, certainly. I think my views probably represent a mixture of synthesis of my colleagues' opinions. The most important quality is, in my opinion, the ability to think flexibly – to find new answers and new solutions. Secondly, I feel that as managers we should be able to handle people, as I'm sure that for the company good labor relations mean a happy and secure future. But this doesn't mean that we should be too lenient or too dogmatic. No, the third quality should be, in my view, the ability to direct and control people effectively.

Reporter: Thank you all for your opinions.

Задание 7. Переведите на русский язык следующие правила делового этикета.

Hints for the Office Manager or the Boss

You need not go around proving you're the boss if you are. So here are some suggestions:

- Don't order, ask and be polite! It amounts to the same thing, but it sounds – and works – better.
- Remember that people work with you? Not for you. People like to be spoken of as associates, not as slaves.
- Keep your promises. It's important to make note of every promise whether it is important or something you think less important.
- Criticize, if you must, only in private – and do it objectively. Never criticize anyone in public or in anger. And that goes for the mail clerk's well as you're your assistant.

The Secretary

In most companies a secretary is hired strictly for business. If you have so little office work for her that she has time to manage your (or her own) personal affairs, you don't need a secretary.

If you ask her to do something which is beyond the scope of her regular office work, realize that you ask a favor. However, this puts your relationship on a more personal basis...

Drawing room manners are out of place in an office, and you are not expected to jump to your feet and hold a chair for your secretary every time she comes into your office. But take care not to treat her as if she were nobody.

You should say a pleasant "Good morning" when you come in and "Please" and "Thank you" at every opportunity; don't expect her to carry in the chairs for your meeting; show a little interest in her health and mood.

Note: When you go out, let her know where you're going, how you can be reached and when you expect to return. She needs the information to fill for you in your absence.

This is what you should expect of your secretary:

- Polite handling of your telephone calls.
- Courteous handling of your visitors.

When someone has a definite appointment with you, he should not be kept waiting but should be shown to your office at precisely the time agreed upon.

But if you are really busy, your secretary should go out to your visitor in person, explain your absence, convey your apologies and then give a definite idea of how much delay is inevitable.

If the visitor chooses to wait, your secretary should then make sure that he is comfortable. It is by no means necessary for her to "entertain" the visitor. She should go on with her work as soon as she has seen that he is comfortable.

Layout of Commercial Correspondence

Business letters exchanged by commercial firms, companies, publishing houses, institutions, etc. are usually written on business letterheads with the name and address of the firm or office already printed above the letter.

The usual layout for the official business letter today is known as the blocked style. In this style all new lines of typing are ranged to the left including paragraph openings and the concluding salutation. There is no punctuation in the address and the greetings. The same style is followed on the envelope.

This streamline style is considered to be efficient, modern and is designed to save the typist time.

However, there are companies and firms which favor the indented or step form style. In this style paragraph openings are indented, the address and greetings are punctuated. The complimentary close and signature are in the middle or even on the right.

The indented style in business letters now has somewhat a traditional appearance, though it can look more balanced, especially for personal letters.

Following are some business letters written on letterheads in the modern streamline block style.

КОНТРОЛЬНЫЕ ВОПРОСЫ:

1. What is management?
2. Who is a manager?

Задание 1. Постарайтесь понять текст без словаря. Кратко перескажите его основное содержание.

The management of the company is called the Board of Directors (not Managers) headed by the Chairman (= the President Am.). There is usually a Managing Director and in the case of big companies there may be several Joint Managing Directors.

A Manager in British companies is the person who is head of a department – Sales, Export, Works (Production), Staff, etc. So there are Sales Managers, Export Managers, Works (Production) Managers, Staff Managers, etc.

A general Manager has managers, working under his control, and receives his instructions from the Managing Director.

By British Company Law (the Companies Acts of 1948 and 1985) a limited company (public or private) must have a Company Secretary whose duties are manifold. First he is the clerk to the Directors: he is to keep Registers of Directors and Members, arrange for proceedings at Director's and shareholder's meetings, prepare notices for the calling of these meetings, attend them and advise directors at board meetings on the legal, accounting and tax implications of any proposed business move as well as keep minutes and write reports (the minutes of a meeting are usually concise records of resolutions or decisions reached, and the reports are more extensive and give details of discussions, arguments for or against the resolutions, and so on), Second he represents his company and in this capacity he supervises the working of the staff and the maintenance of staff records (if there is no special staff manager) finally he is often responsible for the accounting and handling of contracts. Thus he is the link between the company and the members, between the company and the staff and between the company and the public.

The Company Secretary must be a properly qualified person, and be able to fulfill his routine duties well. He is supposed to have training in company law, accountancy and many other subjects. He is expected to be a part-lawyer, part-economist, part-administrator and part-accountant.

But it takes a good deal more than professional qualifications to make a good company secretary: "he must be businessman and humanitarian, lawyer and visionary" (as one of the English newspapers puts it).

Задание 7. Прочитайте фрагмент вступительной речи управляющего по кадрам перед группой секретарей, начинающих работать в компании (Personnel Manager — P.M.; Secretary — S.). В чем, по-вашему, основные сложности в организации работы?

P.M.: Good morning, I'd like to welcome you to our organization. Now you all know which departments you are going to, but before you go off I am going to tell you a little bit about us and about the rules and regulations which we try to adhere to. And the reason why we have these rules is that they help us all to know what we can do, what we must do, and what we shouldn't do – and in the long run make this a happy place to work.

S.: And what can you tell us about flextime system?

P.M.: First of all the flextime system. Most of you can choose what time you are going to start and finish. However, you must all be here for core time which is from 10 till 3. You should all work for a minimum of 37 hours a week and not more than 41 hours. If you look at your job descriptions you'll see that you should put in an average of 38 hours a week. This means you can put in up to an extra 2 hours per week. However, at the end of a month you shouldn't have more than 10 hours overtime, because only 10 hours can be claimed, is that clear?

S.: We would like also know about daily working hours.

P.M.: As far as your daily working hours are concerned, you should tell the departmental heads on the Friday, what times you are going to start the following week. You need's start each day at the same time; but you must be here between 10 and 3, and you mustn't put in less than 37 hours in a week. And one more point, you needn't specify in advance what time you are going to finish.

S.: How long does our holiday last?

P.M.: You all have 18 days holiday a year. Ten of these 18 days must be taken during July when the company will be closed. The other eight days may be taken in either one or two installments, for example five days and three days or six days and two days, etc. But you can't have eight separate single days off or four 2-day periods off.

S.: Could you possibly tell us about lunch hours? We have a canteen here where you can have lunch. Lunch tickets are on sale on Monday mornings only and this means you must buy your tickets then for the rest of the week. The canteen is open between 12.30 and 2 o'clock and there are two sittings. You should decide on Monday which sitting you are going to attend and tell the supervisor when you buy your tickets. So, any more questions about these three points – flextime, holidays and lunch – before I move on to the next matter?

Задание 8. Прочитайте по ролям диалог и кратко перескажите его содержание.

Allocating the Budget

Chairperson: Well, let's move on to Point 5 on the agenda – the allocation of the 660,000 donated by George Smethurst. We've had 5 proposals put forward, which you've all got on your agendas.

Well, who'd like to start the ball rolling? Yes, Bill.

Bill: Well, I think there are two key areas where improvements are really necessary and where I think we should spend the money. These are, firstly, office accommodations and the workshop. I'd like to suggest that the money be equally allocated between these two areas.

Chairperson: Charles, I can see from your frown that you don't agree.

Charles: It's not that I disagree entirely with what Bill has suggested. I think it's certainly a good idea to spend some of the money on improving the workshops – and I'm all in favor of that. But I don't think that office accommodations is a priority at the moment, and therefore I'm not, really, for spending money on that. What I do feel we should allocate the money to is improving the company's recreational facilities.

Chairperson: Thanks, Charles. And what do you think, Mike?

Mike: Well, if you ask me, I don't think we need to worry about either the workshops or the recreation area, and I am firmly against spending money on those two proposals. What I would like to see is something done about the canteen – and the Food served in it.

Chairperson: Mary, you look ready to say something.

Mary: Yes. I can't possibly agree to Mike's proposal about the canteen. The food, in my opinion, is certainly adequate and I don't see why we need to spend any money on food. It's not intended to be a three-star restaurant. If they don't like the food here, and remember it's subsidized by US, they can always make their own arrangements. I'm inclined to agree with Bill – that we should spend the money on the workshops and the office accommodations.

Chairperson: Thanks, Mary. Susan.

Susan: I'm inclined to agree with Mary's idea about spending the money on the workshop, but I'm rather against improving office accommodations at the moment. Not that it doesn't need it. It does. But it's rather a luxury. Now you may think my ideas are rather bizarre, but I think we should seriously consider investing some of the money – perhaps in antiques or paintings. You may well smile, but a little outside investment will at least give us something to fall back on.

Chairperson: I think the best thing to do now would be to vote on the issue. All those in favor.

Задание 9. Используйте данные выражения в собственных диалогах:

- I think we should spend the money on office accommodations.
- I think some of the money should be spent on the canteen.

- I suggest that a little of the money should be spent on the canteen.
- I think we should spend most of the money on office accommodations.
- I suggest we spend most of the money on antiques.
- I think the canteen needs urgent attention.
- I suggest we pay attention to the recreation area as well.
- I think the workshop is in a disgusting condition.
- I think the best thing we could do at the moment is invest the money in a bank.
- I suggest we also invest some of the money in paintings.
- I think that a new recreation area will solve all our problems.
- I suggest that the working conditions should first be improved.
- I think we should have more workers on the Board of Management.

Задание 10. Прочитайте по ролям диалог между служащим фирмы (А.) и менеджером (В.). Составьте сами подобный диалог.

A.: Well, it's a management meeting so the distribution list is all departmental managers and the managing director.

B.: How many items have we got for the agenda?

A.: I've got four. And then I've received some suggestions from the other managers. Those are on that piece of paper there. We'll have to see how many of those can be included with the time we have available. So, firstly, I'll present the European marketing effort.

B.: So what should I put on the agenda?

A.: Call that one "Marketing report: European market".

B.: Right – "Marketing report: European market".

A.: Now I think that'll take about 45 minutes with questions. We mustn't let it go on too long. Once we've discussed that, we'll go on to consider the Far East market. So put that down as the second point on the agenda: "Marketing report: Far East market".

B.: OK – "Marketing report: Far East market". And thirdly?

A.: Next we'll get onto the forthcoming advertising campaign. Oh. and before I forget, will you remember to get those advertising proofs out of the file for me and leave them on my desk, please?

B.: Certainly. So, what's the last thing on the agenda? By the way, what about this suggestion for an item on "Review of market research activities"?

A.: Oh thanks, Hillary. Yes, we should try and include that. Right – put "Review of market research activities" third.

B.: OK. That means that we'll take the advertising campaign fourth?

A.: Yes. So forth we've got the advertising campaign. B.: What should I call it on the agenda?

A.: Let's call it "Advertising". No, "Advertising campaign". Have you got that?

B.: Yes, "Advertising campaign".

A.: The last thing I've got for the agenda is the computerization of the market research program. But perhaps we can take the item on "Investment in new equipment" fifth. Yes, let's do that. So, fifth we've got "Investment in new equipment". OK?

B.: So, point 5 is "Investment in new equipment".

A.: So that just leaves "Computerization of the market research program" as my final point for the agenda. In fact I doubt if we'll have time for anything else.

B.: So finally we've got "Computerization of the market research program".

A.: Yes. And then don't forget to add AOB. Then we can mention the other points that we haven't had time to discuss and decide when we are going to go over them.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

I study at North Caucasus Federal University in Stavropol. It was founded in 1971. It was organized to train specialists for many branches of industry. During the last few years our University has become a large center of higher technical education as well as the center for training specialists in economics, law and linguistics. Fundamental research and applied investigations as well as experimental work are being successfully carried out at the University.

At present the university is a well-organized educational complex and research center possessing a wide range of financial and technical resources. NCFU is actively becoming integrated into the international educational system, participates in international educational projects, and has agreements on cooperation and student exchange with educational and research centers in the USA, Canada, West Europe, South-Eastern Asia and Africa.

The University teaches more than 20 thousand Russian and foreign students yearly in 11 departments by more than 70 specialties in engineering, natural science, economics and humanities.

These departments are: Civil Engineering Department, Economics and Finance Department, Humanities Department, Information Technologies and Telecommunications Department, Law Department, Department of Electronics, Nanotechnologies and Chemical Industry Department, Department of Foodstuffs

Biotechnology, Department of Oil and Gas, Department of Power Engineering, Machine Building and Transport.

There are about 800 teachers in our University. Among them, 65 are professors and doctors of science, 7 academicians and corresponding members of RAS, 530 are associate professors and candidates of science. The University takes pride in its highly qualified scientific and pedagogic staff. Among the NCSTU professors are outstanding scholars, doctors of science, full and associate professors, honored scientists of the RF, honored educationalists, full members of Russian and International Academies of different branches.

Today students must assimilate a large quantity of new information which is increasing every day. Lectures and seminars alternate with laboratory works, discussions, research work and self-training.

The academic year begins in September and lasts 10 months till July. There are 3 terms in the course of the academic year, so the students take examinations three times a year. During the terms students have to attend lectures, carry out laboratory tests and practical training. At lectures students listen to the lecturers, take notes and ask questions. In seminars they raise problems and discuss them under the direction of their teachers.

Students of the first and second years study maths, physics, chemistry, foreign languages, elements of machines, mechanical drawing, strength of materials, history, philosophy, psychology etc. From the third year they start to study special subjects and carry out research works in their student scientific societies. Many students get student grant, the sum of money which depends on their success in studies. There are 3 hostels near the main building and the students from other towns and villages can live there paying a small quantity of money for rent.

University complex comprises different educational institutions, libraries, sports facilities and clubs, cultural center, students theater, medical center.

The students take an active part in public life of our University; they issue wall newspapers, give concerts, take part in different conferences and meetings.

Each faculty has its own KVN team and they take part in the University championship gathering full concert hall of grateful audience. Students go in for different kinds of sports. Our football team as well as our volleyball and basketball players take part in the city championships.

Lighting up the world

LED lights help in areas without electricity

Dr Irvine-Halliday is a professor of electrical engineering at the University of Calgary in Canada. Dr Irvine-Halliday went on a walking trip to Nepal in 1997 and he saw that people in the villages used lanterns to light their homes. The lanterns were smelly and dangerous and the light wasn't very bright. Dr Irvine-Halliday wanted to help solve the problem. So, he started the Light Up The World Foundation. It is a charity that gives LED lights to thousands of people around the world.

About 1.6 billion people worldwide don't have electricity. They use oil in their lamps. But it is an expensive fuel. It is also inefficient and causes indoor and outdoor air pollution.

LED lights are an ideal solution to the problem. They only need a little power and this means that people can use them in areas where there is no electricity. They can run on AA batteries, or solar power. LEDs can give up to 100 times more light than lanterns, and they last a long time. When people began to use LED lights, it changed their lives. They increased productivity and it gave them more time to study. It also reduced health problems and accidental fires.

Now, it is important to make LEDs less expensive. For example, families in rural Kenya spend about $7 a month on oil for lighting. A solar-powered LED lamp lasts longer, but many people cannot afford the $25 to $50 that the lamps cost to buy. When charities and other organisations find a solution to the price problem, the future could be bright.

Toy manufacturers make adults feel young again

Two things are often true about toy production. First, toys are usually made cheaply in low-cost economies. And secondly, toy manufacturers generally need a large population of children to sell their products to. Japan is big, expensive and rich. It also has a low population of children. So, do toys sell badly in the Japanese market?

The surprising answer is no. In fact, 1 _____. One reason that the market is and the toys a success is that 2 _____ are well designed. Another reason is that many manufacturers now market toys to adults as well as children.

Toy makers happily design more and more new toys for adults. Some of the toys are very expensive. There is a walking robot toy that is popular with middle-aged men. It has a 100-page instruction manual and costs ¥126,000 ($1,105). And there is a talking boy doll that is popular with women over 40. Not all the toys use modern technology. 3 _____ that are also popular. One example is a baseball game with small plastic players.

The shy architect

How Ratan Tata is changing India's biggest company

Ratan Tata trained to be an architect. Then he worked for the family firm, the Tata Group - one of the biggest companies in India. It has companies in many different sectors, including the car industry and the steel industry. The company's latest project is producing a car that costs under $3,000.

Mr Tata does not drink or smoke and he does not like publicity. He became chairperson in 1991. At that time, Tata was a difficult organisation to manage. There were more than 300 different companies in the group and some were old-fashioned. Today, there are only 96 companies and the group is more modern.

In the past, it was difficult for Tata to trade outside India because of competition from other countries. Now it exports internationally. The Tata Group is also buying companies in different countries. At the moment, one of the companies in the group, Tata Steel, is trying to buy Corus, a European steel company. But it has a competitor CSN, a Brazilian company, also wants to buy Corus.

Ratan Tata is making changes to the company. Many of these changes help make the group more competitive. But he isn't changing all the group's traditions. For example, the Tata Group still tries to help its workers - the children of Tata's steelworkers first started to have free education in 1917. Two thirds of the Tata Group is owned by charitable foundations, and today they are still helping people in India. Investors sometimes ask: 'Is Tata doing the right thing? Is charity good for business?' But Mr Tata thinks it is possible to help people and be competitive at the same time.

Why British people are moving to other countries

More and more Britons are living in other countries. A recent report said that almost 200,000 Britons left the country last year with no plans to return. A British person emigrates every three minutes, and 5.5m British people now live abroad.

Many younger people leave - a lot of students go abroad to study. Older people are usually retired and want a warmer climate to live in. Two thirds of the people that emigrate are workers. Some are managers and others do manual or administrative jobs. Australia is the favourite country for English people to emigrate to. Spain and the USA are also popular.

Why do people leave? Many want to find a better job. A quarter of people say that they want to leave Britain because the cost of living is high. Homeowners with expensive houses can buy a bigger place abroad; young people want to move because houses in other countries are cheaper than in Britain. Research suggests that the quality of life in Britain is worse than in some other countries. But most people leave for positive reasons: many think that living in another country is more interesting -they leave because they want to have a happier life.

It is becoming more difficult for British people to emigrate to countries outside the European Union. Most countries want professional or skilled workers, for example, builders, engineers and doctors. But other skills are also popular in some countries - Australia, for example, needs hairdressers.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

The world of work

Work has changed around the world

Manpower has been a successful employment agency for about 60 years. It has supplied temporary employees to companies since 1948. That's when the first office opened in Milwaukee, in the USA. Two lawyers started the company when they were unable to find temporary help with a project. Today, it is a global company with offices all around the world.

Employment agencies supply companies with different types of workers. These include professional and administrative workers in offices, and manual workers in factories and on building sites. Temporary workers (also called 'temps') now make up between one and three per cent of the total workforce in most countries. Multinational companies have employed temps for a long time. Now smaller companies also use temporary workers.

Have careers changed very much since the 1990s? A decade ago, people expected to work for the same company until they retired. Today, nobody expects a job for life any more. People move from job to job, working in different companies or in different departments. Training is important because it improves workers' skills. This can help employees to find better jobs or get a promotion.

In some jobs there aren't enough skilled workers. Some companies want retired people with skills to return to work. Japan, Australia and Italy have started to employ older workers. Companies need organisations like Manpower to arrange training for older employees, for example to use computers or to work with a younger boss.

The phone of the future

Experts talk about big changes for the telephone

It is easy to imagine what mobile phones will look like in a year or two -they'll probably be smaller. But what will they look like ten or fifteen years from now? Perhaps they'll be so small that we won't be able to see them. Maybe we'll have phones in jewellery such as rings, and fashion items like sunglasses.

People in Japan can already use mobile phones to buy things in shops. In some countries it is also possible to use a phone as a train ticket and office pass. So, what new functions will phones have in the future? One thing that is certain is that phones will do more of the things that PCs do today. Some people also think that we'll use phones as house keys, passports, computer games, maps and video recorders. The phone will be our 'remote control for life'. In a decade's time, many phones will have enough memory to video all of a person's life.

Companies are developing phones built into glasses. This will be useful when looking for directions -a map will appear inside the glass of the lens. Maybe we'll be able to use our phone to label people at a party or conference. We'll never forget a name again.

Some experts think that in the future we'll use our voice instead of our fingers to put data into a phone. Stuart Wolf, a professor at the University of Virginia, predicts that in 20 years' time people will use their thoughts to communicate with each other. We won't need phones at all!

A Jobclub is a place, where long term unemployed people work at finding a job in a professional and systematic way by adopting a businesslike approach. The first Jobclubs, developed from work done in North America, were opened in 1984. They proved popular and successful and the service expanded rapidly. Jobclubs take a bold and positive stance: there is a job available for each member.

Aim: to provide people who are unemployed for 26 weeks or more with facilities to enable them to find the best possible job within the shortest possible time. Jobclubs provide a simple, straightforward approach to help clients find jobs. Jobclub members agree to attend four half days per week. The Jobclub provides use of photocopiers, telephones and typewriters free of charge. Trade magazines and specialist magazines are also available. There may be special types of Jobclubs to help disadvantaged people, i.e. (id est = in other words) former detainees and people nearing release from prison.

Executive and Management Jobclubs are also available in some areas, which provide support for middle and senior managers. The Work Trials can be regarded as an extended interview. Work Trials offer an employer a period of up to 15 days to observe the jobseeker within the workplace. They also give the jobseeker the opportunity to demonstrate their skills and experience to that employer. In addition, they enable the jobseeker to determine their own suitability for that job. Jobplan Workshops are to help people who have been out of work for 12 months or more back into work or training. Jobplan aims to build participants' resilience to setbacks they may encounter whilst looking for work.

Attendance at a Jobplan Workshop gives priority access to ED programmes (education programmes). Job Review Workshops. Aim: to help unemployed people who are unlikely to return to their normal occupation, or who are looking to broaden their jobsearch, make an informed choice of alternative career opportunities. These workshops are particularly suitable for people with professional, executive and managerial backgrounds who have been unemployed for about 13 weeks. Job review workshops are demanding and are particularly suitable for unemployed managers, professional and executive who have been out of work for about 13 weeks; The workshops are facilitated by tutors who can help clients assess what they have to offer in a range of jobs. Participants will have the benefit of a computerized guidance system to help them select the most suitable jobs and men research the most suitable options.

RESUME

A CV (curriculum vitae) is essential if you're applying for a new job or for promotion within your own company, or even to register as a delegate at a conference. Some information might be given in your CV, some in your letter of application - and perhaps some on a Supplementary Information sheet (giving information relevant to the particular job you're applying for). There are no fixed international rules about this: different countries have different practices.

But you can follow some hints by writing your CV:

- Always type it on unlined white paper, preferably a single sheet.
- Write your name, address and telephone number.
- Put your health record, date of birth and marital status.
- In the next section, note down your education. Put any qualifications on the next line.
- Next, detail your work history, starting with your most recent job. Give dates, employers and describe your duties.
- List hobbies and interests and put extra information in a separate section.
- End by saying that two referees are available on request – not naming them leaves you free to choose the best ones for particular jobs. Remember the longer an application, the less chance it has of being read.
- Never send a photo-copied letter – it looks as though you don't care.
- Always be positive and never apologize for being You.

Задание 3.

Определите, какие из нижеперечисленных пунктов могут быть наиболее пригодными для CV (т. е. curriculum vitae):

- Your name, address and telephone number.
- The title and reference number of the job.
- Your date of birth.
- Your marital status.
- The name and address of present (or last) employer.
- Your hobbies and leisure interests.
- The sports you play.
- Details of all the jobs you have had.
- The languages you speak, read or write.
- Details of the examinations you passed at school.
- Details of the professional diplomas or degrees you have gained.
- Details of training courses you have attended.
- Details of your achievements and responsibilities in your working career.
- Your suitability for the job advertised.

- Your reasons for applying for this job.
- When you are available for interview.
- Details of your present (or last) job.
- Your current (or last) salary.
- The salary you would expect to receive.
- The names and addresses of two or three referees.

Elizabeth: English and history. I liked French, too. And art. I didn't like mathematics or science much. Chemistry was my worst subject.

Mr. Green: Mathematics is sometimes very useful in office work.

Elizabeth: Oh, well. I can do simple arithmetic and I have studied bookkeeping.

Mr. Green: What have you been doing for the last seven years? I believe you have had some secretarial and, commercial training.

Elizabeth: Yes, I have. When I left school I went to Barsetshire Technical College and took a course in shorthand-typing, bookkeeping, office practice and some other subjects.

Mr. Green: How long was this course?

Elizabeth: One year.

Mr. Green: And what did you do when you left the technical college?

Elizabeth: I went to work in an insurance company in Liverpool.

Mr. Green: Did you stay there long?

Elizabeth: I have been there for six years. I'm still working there.

A Letter of Application

Dear Sir,

I should like to be considered for the post of Personal Manager at your Croydon factory, which was advertised in the "Sunday Chronicle" on February 15th 2002. The relevant information concerning my education and professional experience is as follows.

From 1980 to 1983 I studied Sociology at the University of Harrogate and graduated with a Second Class Honours Degree (Lower Division) in that subject. The main degree Course was concerned with basic sociological topics, such as the history and theory of sociology, but there were also a number of optional courses available. From amongst these I selected The History of Industrial Sociology and The Psychology of Management. In order to satisfy part of the requirements for my Finals Examination I had to submit a short dissertation involving original research. I wrote a paper on Nineteenth Century Industrial Relations in Yorkshire and for this section of my examination received a mark of distinction.

Whilst at university I took an active part in a number of social activities, and was secretary of both the Drama Society and the Student Sociological Society.

On leaving university I was a student for a year at the North York Business College, where I was successful in obtaining a Diploma in Industrial Management, Class I. Courses at this college covered a wide field relevant to the management studies in general and I was able to supplement my theoretical knowledge with a great deal of practical experience of such things as office management, personnel selection and the development of modification of work schedules. But it was in the area of personnel management and control that I found my interests satisfying fully and I took all available opportunities of increasing my knowledge of theory and practice in this field.

From July 1984, when I left Business College, until September 1988, I was employed as an Assistant Personal Officer with Messrs. James Bradley, at their Leeds factory. The company manufactures a wide range of small components for use in the electronics and motor industries, and employed at that time a Labour force of approximately five hundred men and women.

I enjoyed the work at Bradley's very much, especially in that it kept me closely in touch with both workers and management, but after four years' experience there, and in the absence of any prospects of promotion I applied for the post of Deputy Personal Manager with Yorkshire Engineers Ltd. I began to work there in September 1988 and am still employed in the same post.

My work at Yorkshire Engineers is in many ways similar to that which I was doing previously. The work is absorbing and rewarding, but now I feel that at this stage in my career I should like more responsibility.

In your advertisement you asked applicants to provide information on leisure activities, which may be considered relevant. First, I have continued ever since university to read widely in the literature relevant to my occupation I find time to contribute articles to several of the journals in this field. Details of my publications are provided on an attached sheet. Second, I began doing some voluntary social work while at business college and have gradually extended my commitment in this direction ever since.

I enclose copies of two recent testimonials, and the names and addresses of two people – who are prepared to act as my referees.

I hope that the information I have provided in this letter and the enclosures is sufficient for your purposes, but I shall of course be glad to expand it should you wish.

Yours faithfully,
Robert Drayton

Staff suggestions

Some secretaries would like to leave earlier on (days other than Thursdays as the shops do not stay open later and so are fuller. Clerical staff are prepared to work during the present lunch hour. An extension of working hours is acceptable if they are credited later. One department has proposed a “pairing” system, where you always have someone else to cover for you in your absence.

Staff requests

There are a number of part-time workers, all women, about 25% of the office staff, who would prefer to work the majority of their 17 hours in the mornings. Hillary: And is Helen around?

Karen: Yes, she's just gone over to Finance. She'll be back in a minute... oh, here she is now.

Hillary: Helen, could I have a word with you and Karen?

Helen: Yes, of course.

Hillary: OK. Let's go into Alice's office. She's away today, and then we can talk a bit more privately.

Helen: OK.

Karen: OK.

Hillary: Right, now I've heard that-the two of you have been complaining a bit... about the extra work you are expected to do. Sol thought we could perhaps discuss it and see if we can sort it out. Is that OK?

Karen: Yes, it's a good idea.

Helen: Yes, fine.

Hillary: OK, Karen, can you tell me what your problems are?

Karen: Well, it's just that I can't manage to get through all my marketing work. I just seem to have too many other things to do.

Hillary: Go on.

Karen: Well, first I often have to type letters for the departmental managers.

Hillary: You mean outside marketing?

Karen: Yes, for Mr. Ford, for example. When Katty and Sally

Hillary: I see.

Karen: And then I sometimes have to type up minutes of meetings, which isn't really my job at all.

Hillary: No, that's right. That isn't your job. Anything else?

Karen: Well, then there's the post. Occasionally I'm asked to sort through it.

Hillary: Do you ever have to distribute it?

Karen: No, rarely. I mean Helen does that normally. I only do it when she's away or too busy.

Hillary: And how about dictation?

Karen: Well, that's normally once a day, but that's not too bad because it's usually in marketing – so I don't mind. It's really all the other jobs that I get.

Hillary: I see, so the problems are mainly the letters - and typing the minutes.

Karen: Yes, I suppose so.

Hillary: OK. Helen, what about you?

Helen: Well, at the moment! always distribute the mail. But I thought it would be shared – not always me.

Hillary: I see. And what about sorting?

Helen: Well, I do that twice a day, but it doesn't take -very long. And any way, that's part of my normal job.

Hillary: And what about meetings taking minutes or typing them?

Helen: Well, I take minutes at the board meeting every month... and again that's part of my job. But I'm also asked to type up minutes from other meetings.

Hillary: How often?

Helen: I suppose I get some every week to type up... and they're not from marketing.

Hillary: I see. And how about dictation and letters?

Helen: Well, I suppose I do a dictation daily ... but it's often for other managers. I mean they just walk in and...

Hillary: OK, Helen. I understand. And what about letters?

Helen: I rarely type letters these days. I never have time.

Hillary: I see. So I suppose you just give them to Karen.

Helen: Well, not exactly give them...

Hillary: Alice, are you busy?

Alice: As usual. But what can I do for you?

Hillary: I've just opened the suggestions box, and I wanted to have a word with you about some of the suggestions.

Alice: OK.

Hillary: The first one is about the morning tea break. At present it's at 11.00, and the suggestion is to change it to 10.30.

Alice: Well, and what do you think?

Hillary: I think we should have it a bit earlier, if that's OK.

Alice: I have no objections at all.

Hillary: Good. The second one is about the printer.

Alice: Another complaint about the noise?

Hillary: Afraid so.

Alice: Well, we can't replace it. But it might be a good idea to fit a better cover so that it isn't as noisy.

Hillary: OK, I'll investigate. Right, the next one says 'What about having a non-smoking office?'

Alice: A nice idea, but unfortunately unrealistic with so many people working in the same office. But why don't you talk informally to the office staff and see if the smokers can agree to smoke outside the office or something?

Hillary: OK, I'll do that. The next one is about flextime. Don't you think we should consider it? Most of the other companies in Southtown have already introduced it.

Alice: I'm afraid the Managing Director has already said no to that one, and I agree with him for the moment. I think we should look at it again next year.

Hillary: Fine. OK, just two more. How about a company Christmas party?

Alice: Yes, I'm all in favor. We've got plenty of time if we start thinking about it now. Why don't you start planning after the summer?

Hillary: OK, I'll enjoy organizing that. And finally, there's a suggestion about reorganizing the furniture in the main office. The secretaries all say that they are very cramped. Don't you think we should do something about it?

Alice: Yes, absolutely. It's been on my mind for quite a while now. I suggest that we have a word with Christine Adams, the Office Manager, and see what can be done.

Hillary: Good, that's all. Thanks very much.

КОНТРОЛЬНЫЕ ВОПРОСЫ:

1. Are good relationships between colleagues important? Why?

Задание 1. Внимательно прочитайте диалог между Hillary Beacham и госпожой Wright. Ответьте на следующие вопросы:

- What kind of job is Mrs. Wright looking for?
- Where did she work before?
- What does Hillary Beacham do (in the company)?

H.B.: I think I'd better take this opportunity to explain to you exactly who's who in the company. You'll need to know who to go to if you want to contact a particular manager. Let's start right at the top: David Burton is the Managing Director and his Personal Assistant is Mary Wilkins. The company is divided into four departments: Production, Personnel, Marketing und Finance. OK?

W.: Right. Let's deal with each one in turn. Michael Stout looks after Production, and his title is Production Manager, and Daniel Harkin works as Personal Assistant in the Production Department. Then there are two secretaries. Is that so?

H.B.: Yes.

W.: Moving on to Personnel, we've got Sheila Polson, and her title is Personnel Director. Jane Hargreaves works for Sheila Polson as Personal Assistant. And then there are two secretaries in the department. OK?

H.B.: Yes, fine. As you know, I'm the Marketing Manager and for the next two months you are going to work as my Personal Assistant. Helen Wright and Karen Williams, the two secretaries in the department, will report to you. Is that clear? And finally... Paul Cummins is responsible for the Finance Department. His PA (Personal Assistant) is Judith Walker. And then there are three secretaries in the department. You've met one already. I think. So that's a brief overview of the structure of the company. Do you have any questions?..

Задание 2. Прочитайте внимательно текст, в котором речь идет о том, каким должен быть современный руководитель. Свое мнение высказывают три члена комиссии: Джон Рейнолдс, Марк Причард, Сюзен Стейнтон. Продолжите обсуждение кандидатур, используя модели диалога.

Reporter: In the second part of this interview I'd like to ask each of you in turn what you consider to be the three most important qualities for a good manager. Perhaps we could hear your ideas first, Mr. Reynolds.

Reynolds: I think that at present the most important quality is the ability to deal with other people. I know we are a manufacturing industry, but I feel very strongly that we also have a great responsibility towards our personnel. Secondly... let me see. Yes, in my opinion the second most important quality is the ability to talk to our personnel about their jobs, their futures, their problems, etc. To be able to relate to them, you know. And thirdly... I suppose I'd put adaptability as the third most important quality. I think that fits in with the other two points I mentioned to give my idea of a good manager.

Reporter: Thank you for your opinions, Mr. Reynolds. Perhaps we could hear your views now, Mr. Pritchard.

Pritchard: I consider the present situation requires a rather different approach to the whole question of management and therefore different qualities for managers. I believe that a good manager is one who can persuade people that his way is right. Isn't that why he is a manager? Getting people to accept his decisions and to follow his leadership – that, in my view, is the mark of a good manager. Secondly, I feel that he should be firm with his people – that's how they'll come to respect him. And thirdly,... I'm of the opinion that he should be physically fit. In this day and age the pressures and strains are so great that only the fittest can survive, and those are the ones who should be the managers. Mentally competent. Yes, but physically competent, also.

Reporter: Thanks, Mr. Pritchard. Could we hear what you think, Mrs. Stainton?

Stainton: Yes, certainly. I think my views probably represent a mixture of synthesis of my colleagues' opinions. The most important quality is, in my opinion, the ability to think flexibly – to find new answers and new solutions. Secondly, I feel that as managers we should be able to handle people, as I'm sure that for the company good labor relations mean a happy and secure future. But this doesn't mean that we should be too lenient or too dogmatic. No, the third quality should be, in my view, the ability to direct and control people effectively.

Reporter: Thank you all for your opinions.

Hints for the Office Manager or the Boss

You need not go around proving you're the boss if you are. So here are some suggestions:

- Don't order, ask and be polite! It amounts to the same thing, but it sounds – and works – better.
- Remember that people work with you? Not for you. People like to be spoken of as associates, not as slaves.
- Keep your promises. It's important to make note of every promise whether it is important or something you think less important.
- Criticize, if you must, only in private – and do it objectively. Never criticize anyone in public or in anger. And that goes for the mail clerk's well as you're your assistant.

The Secretary

In most companies a secretary is hired strictly for business. If you have so little office work for her that she has time to manage your (or her own) personal affairs, you don't need a secretary.

If you ask her to do something which is beyond the scope of her regular office work, realize that you ask a favor. However, this puts your relationship on a more personal basis...

Drawing room manners are out of place in an office, and you are not expected to jump to your feet and hold a chair for your secretary every time she comes into your office. But take care not to treat her as if she were nobody.

You should say a pleasant "Good morning" when you come in and "Please" and "Thank you" at every opportunity; don't expect her to carry in the chairs for your meeting; show a little interest in her health and mood.

Note: When you go out, let her know where you're going, how you can be reached and when you expect to return. She needs the information to fill for you in your absence.

This is what you should expect of your secretary:

- Polite handling of your telephone calls.
- Courteous handling of your visitors.

When someone has a definite appointment with you, he should not be kept waiting but should be shown to your office at precisely the time agreed upon.

But if you are really busy, your secretary should go out to your visitor in person, explain your absence, convey your apologies and then give a definite idea of how much delay is inevitable.

If the visitor chooses to wait, your secretary should then make sure that he is comfortable. It is by no means necessary for her to "entertain" the visitor. She should go on with her work as soon as she has seen that he is comfortable.

Layout of Commercial Correspondence

Business letters exchanged by commercial firms, companies, publishing houses, institutions, etc. are usually written on business letterheads with the name and address of the firm or office already printed above the letter.

The usual layout for the official business letter today is known as the blocked style. In this style all new lines of typing are ranged to the left including paragraph openings and the concluding salutation. There is no punctuation in the address and the greetings. The same style is followed on the envelope.

This streamline style is considered to be efficient, modern and is designed to save the typist time.

However, there are companies and firms which favor the indented or step form style. In this style paragraph openings are indented, the address and greetings are punctuated. The complimentary close and signature are in the middle or even on the right.

The indented style in business letters now has somewhat a traditional appearance, though it can look more balanced, especially for personal letters.

Following are some business letters written on letterheads in the modern streamline block style.

Harper & Grant Ltd.,
Great West Road,
London, W. 25.
1st October, 200..,

Dear Sir,

I am writing to ask you if you have a vacancy on your staff for an assistant accountant.

I am twenty-two years of age and have been working in the costing department of the Bedford Furnishing Company, Bedford House; London, E.C.I.", for the past two years. I am studying Accountancy and Business Management at the Polytechnic and wish to complete my course there, which has another two years to run.

The only reason for, my seeking new employment is, that Bedford Furnishing is moving shortly to a development area in the north-west, where its main works is already located.

If there is some chance of a vacancy occurring in-the near future, I would greatly appreciate being given an interview. My present employers would gladly give reference.

Yours faithfully,
Simon Deeds

КОНТРОЛЬНЫЕ ВОПРОСЫ:

3. What is management?

4. Who is a manager?

Задание 1. Постарайтесь понять текст без словаря. Кратко перескажите его основное содержание.

The management of the company is called the Board of Directors (not Managers) headed by the Chairman (= the President Am.). There is usually a Managing Director and in the case of big companies there may be several Joint Managing Directors.

A Manager in British companies is the person who is head of a department – Sales, Export, Works (Production), Staff, etc. So there are Sales Managers, Export Managers, Works (Production) Managers, Staff Managers, etc.

A general Manager has managers, working under his control, and receives his instructions from the Managing Director.

By British Company Law (the Companies Acts of 1948 and 1985) a limited company (public or private) must have a Company Secretary whose duties are manifold. First he is the clerk to the Directors: he is to keep Registers of Directors and Members, arrange for proceedings at Director's and shareholder's meetings, prepare notices for the calling of these meetings, attend them and advise directors at board meetings on the legal, accounting and tax implications of any proposed business move as well as keep minutes and write reports (the minutes of a meeting are usually concise records of resolutions or decisions reached, and the reports are more extensive and give details of discussions, arguments for or against the resolutions, and so on), Second he represents his company and in this capacity he supervises the working of the staff and the maintenance of staff records (if there is no special staff manager) finally he is often responsible for the accounting and handling of contracts. Thus he is the link between the company and the members, between the company and the staff and between the company and the public.

The Company Secretary must be a properly qualified person, and be able to fulfill his routine duties well. He is supposed to have training in company law, accountancy and many other subjects. He is expected to be a part-lawyer, part-economist, part-administrator and part-accountant.

But it takes a good deal more than professional qualifications to make a good company secretary: "he must be businessman and humanitarian, lawyer and visionary" (as one of the English newspapers puts it).

Задание 7. Прочитайте фрагмент вступительной речи управляющего по кадрам перед группой секретарей, начинающих работать в компании (Personnel Manager — P.M.; Secretary — S.). В чем, по-вашему, основные сложности в организации работы?

P.M.: Good morning, I'd like to welcome you to our organization. Now you all know which departments you are going to, but before you go off I am going to tell you a little bit about us and about the rules and regulations which we try to adhere to. And the reason why we have these rules is that they help us all to know what we can do, what we must do, and what we shouldn't do – and in the long run make this a happy place to work.

S.: And what can you tell us about flextime system?

P.M.: First of all the flextime system. Most of you can choose what time you are going to start and finish. However, you must all be here for core time which is from 10 till 3. You should all work for a minimum of 37 hours a week and not more than 41 hours. If you look at your job descriptions you'll see that you should put in an average of 38 hours a week. This means you can put in up to an extra 2 hours per week. However, at the end of a month you shouldn't have more than 10 hours overtime, because only 10 hours can be claimed, is that clear?

S.: We would like also know about daily working hours.

P.M.: As far as your daily working hours are concerned, you should tell the departmental heads on the Friday, what times you are going to start the following week. You need's start each day at the same time; but you must be here between 10 and 3, and you mustn't put in less than 37 hours in a week. And one more point, you needn't specify in advance what time you are going to finish.

S.: How long does our holiday last?

P.M.: You all have 18 days holiday a year. Ten of these 18 days must be taken during July when the company will be closed. The other eight days may be taken in either one or two installments, for example five days and three days or six days and two days, etc. But you can't have eight separate single days off or four 2-day periods off.

S.: Could you possibly tell us about lunch hours? We have a canteen here where you can have lunch. Lunch tickets are on sale on Monday mornings only and this means you must buy your tickets then for the rest of the week. The canteen is open between 12.30 and 2 o'clock and there are two sittings. You should decide on Monday which sitting you are going to attend and tell the supervisor when you buy your tickets. So, any more questions about these three points – flextime, holidays and lunch – before I move on to the next matter?

Задание 8. Прочитайте по ролям диалог и кратко перескажите его содержание.

Allocating the Budget

Chairperson: Well, let's move on to Point 5 on the agenda – the allocation of the 660,000 donated by George Smethurst. We've had 5 proposals put forward, which you've all got on your agendas.

Well, who'd like to start the ball rolling? Yes, Bill.

Bill: Well, I think there are two key areas where improvements are really necessary and where I think we should spend the money. These are, firstly, office accommodations and the workshop. I'd like to suggest that the money be equally allocated between these two areas.

Chairperson: Charles, I can see from your frown that you don't agree.

Charles: It's not that I disagree entirely with what Bill has suggested. I think it's certainly a good idea to spend some of the money on improving the workshops – and I'm all in favor of that. But I don't think that office accommodations is a priority at the moment, and therefore I'm not, really for spending money on that. What I do feel we should allocate the money to is improving the company's recreational facilities.

Chairperson: Thanks, Charles. And what do you think, Mike?

Mike: Well, if you ask me, I don't think we need to worry about either the workshops or the recreation area, and I am firmly against spending money on those two proposals. What I would like to see is something done about the canteen – and the Food served in it.

Chairperson: Mary, you look ready to say something.

Mary: Yes. I can't possibly agree to Mike's proposal about the canteen. The food, in my opinion, is certainly adequate and I don't see why we need to spend any money on food. It's not intended to be a three-star restaurant. If they don't like the food here, and remember it's subsidized by US, they can always make their own arrangements. I'm inclined to agree with Bill – that we should spend the money on the workshops and the office accommodations.

Chairperson: Thanks, Mary. Susan.

Susan: I'm inclined to agree with Mary's idea about spending the money on the workshop, but I'm rather against improving office accommodations at the moment. Not that it doesn't need it. It does. But it's rather a luxury. Now you may think my ideas are rather bizarre, but I think we should seriously consider investing some of the money – perhaps in antiques or paintings. You may well smile, but a little outside investment will at least give us something to fall back on.

Chairperson: I think the best thing to do now would be to vote on the issue. All those in favor.

Задание 9. Используйте данные выражения в собственных диалогах:

- I think we should spend the money on office accommodations.
- I think some of the money should be spent on the canteen.
- I think we should spend most of the money on the workshop.
- I think all of the money (should) be spent on the recreation area.
- I suggest that a little of the money should be spent on the canteen.
- I think we should spend most of the money on office accommodations.
- I suggest we spend most of the money on antiques.
- I think the canteen needs urgent attention.
- I suggest we pay attention to the recreation area as well.
- I think the workshop is in a disgusting condition.
- I think the best thing we could do at the moment is invest the money in a bank.
- I suggest we also invest some of the money in paintings.
- I think that a new recreation area will solve all our problems.
- I suggest that the working conditions should first be improved.
- I think we should have more workers on the Board of Management.

Задание 10. Прочитайте по ролям диалог между служащим фирмы (А.) и менеджером (В.). Составьте сами подобный диалог.

A.: Well, it's a management meeting so the distribution list is all departmental managers and the managing director.

B.: How many items have we got for the agenda?

A.: I've got four. And then I've received some suggestions from the other managers. Those are on that piece of paper there. We'll have to see how many of those can be included with the time we have available. So, firstly, I'll present the European marketing effort.

B.: So what should I put on the agenda?

A.: Call that one "Marketing report: European market".

B.: Right – "Marketing report: European market".

A.: Now I think that'll take about 45 minutes with questions. We mustn't let it go on too long. Once we've discussed that, we'll go on to consider the Far East market.

So put that down as the second point on the agenda: "Marketing report: Far East market".

B.: OK – "Marketing report: Far East market". And thirdly?

A.: Next we'll get onto the forthcoming advertising campaign. Oh, and before I forget, will you remember to get those advertising proofs out of the file for me and leave them on my desk, please?

B.: Certainly. So, what's the last thing on the agenda? By the way, what about this suggestion for an item on "Review of market research activities"?

A.: Oh thanks, Hillary. Yes, we should try and include that. Right – put "Review of market research activities" third.

B.: OK. That means that we'll take the advertising campaign fourth?

A.: Yes. So forth we've got the advertising campaign. B.: What should I call it on the agenda?

A.: Let's call it "Advertising". No, "Advertising campaign". Have you got that?

B.: Yes, "Advertising campaign".

A.: The last thing I've got for the agenda is the computerization of the market research program. But perhaps we can take the item on "Investment in new equipment" fifth. Yes, let's do that. So, fifth we've got "Investment in new equipment". OK?

B.: So, point 5 is "Investment in new equipment".

A.: So that just leaves "Computerization of the market research program" as my final point for the agenda. In fact I doubt if we'll have time for anything else.

B.: So finally we've got "Computerization of the market research program".

A.: Yes. And then don't forget to add AOB. Then we can mention the other points that we haven't had time to discuss and decide when we are going to go over them.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

I study at North Caucasus Federal University in Stavropol. It was founded in 1971. It was organized to train specialists for many branches of industry. During the last few years our University has become a large center of higher technical education as well as the center for training specialists in economics, law and linguistics. Fundamental research and applied investigations as well as experimental work are being successfully carried out at the University.

At present the university is a well-organized educational complex and research center possessing a wide range of financial and technical resources. NCFU is actively becoming integrated into the international educational system, participates in international educational projects, and has agreements on cooperation and student exchange with educational and research centers in the USA, Canada, West Europe, South-Eastern Asia and Africa.

The University teaches more than 20 thousand Russian and foreign students yearly in 11 departments by more than 70 specialties in engineering, natural science, economics and humanities.

These departments are: Civil Engineering Department, Economics and Finance Department, Humanities Department, Information Technologies and Telecommunications Department, Law Department, Department of Electronics, Nanotechnologies and Chemical Industry Department, Department of Foodstuffs Biotechnology, Department of Oil and Gas, Department of Power Engineering, Machine Building and Transport.

There are about 800 teachers in our University. Among them, 65 are professors and doctors of science, 7 academicians and corresponding members of RAS, 530 are associate professors and candidates of science. The University takes pride in its highly qualified scientific and pedagogic staff. Among the NCSTU professors are outstanding scholars, doctors of science, full and associate professors, honored scientists of the RF, honored educationalists, full members of Russian and International Academies of different branches.

Today students must assimilate a large quantity of new information which is increasing every day. Lectures and seminars alternate with laboratory works, discussions, research work and self-training.

The academic year begins in September and lasts 10 months till July. There are 3 terms in the course of the academic year, so the students take examinations three times a year. During the terms students have to attend lectures, carry out laboratory tests and practical training. At lectures students listen to the lecturers, take notes and ask questions. In seminars they raise problems and discuss them under the direction of their teachers.

Students of the first and second years study maths, physics, chemistry, foreign languages, elements of machines, mechanical drawing, strength of materials, history, philosophy, psychology etc. From the third year they start to study special subjects and carry out research works in their student scientific societies. Many students get student grant, the sum of money which depends on their success in studies. There are 3 hostels near the main building and the students from other towns and villages can live there paying a small quantity of money for rent.

University complex comprises different educational institutions, libraries, sports facilities and clubs, cultural center, students theater, medical center.

The students take an active part in public life of our University; they issue wall newspapers, give concerts, take part in different conferences and meetings. Each faculty has its own KVN team and they take part in the University championship gathering full concert hall of grateful audience. Students go in for different kinds of sports. Our football team as well as our volleyball and basketball players take part in the city championships.

I think it is worth studying at this University.

Lighting up the world

LED lights help in areas without electricity

Dr Irvine-Halliday is a professor of electrical engineering at the University of Calgary in Canada. Dr Irvine-Halliday went on a walking trip to Nepal in 1997 and he saw that people in the villages used lanterns to light their homes. The lanterns were smelly and dangerous and the light wasn't very bright. Dr Irvine-Halliday wanted to help solve the problem. So, he started the Light Up The World Foundation. It is a charity that gives LED lights to thousands of people around the world.

About 1.6 billion people worldwide don't have electricity. They use oil in their lamps. But it is an expensive fuel. It is also inefficient and causes indoor and outdoor air pollution.

LED lights are an ideal solution to the problem. They only need a little power and this means that people can use them in areas where there is no electricity. They can run on AA batteries, or solar power. LEDs can give up to 100 times more light than lanterns, and they last a long time. When people began to use LED lights, it changed their lives. They increased productivity and it gave them more time to study. It also reduced health problems and accidental fires.

Now, it is important to make LEDs less expensive. For example, families in rural Kenya spend about $7 a month on oil for lighting. A solar-powered LED lamp lasts longer, but many people cannot afford the $25 to $50 that the lamps cost to buy. When charities and other organisations find a solution to the price problem, the future could be bright.

Toy manufacturers make adults feel young again

Two things are often true about toy production. First, toys are usually made cheaply in low-cost economies. And secondly, toy manufacturers generally need a large population of children to sell their products to. Japan is big, expensive and rich. It also has a low population of children. So, do toys sell badly in the Japanese market?

The surprising answer is no. In fact, 1 _____. One reason that the market is and the toys a success is that 2_____are well designed. Another reason is that many manufacturers now market toys to adults as well as children.

Toy makers happily design more and more new toys for adults. Some of the toys are very expensive. There is a walking robot toy that is popular with middle-aged men. It has a 100-page instruction manual and costs ¥126,000 ($1,105). And there is a talking boy doll that is popular with women over 40. Not all the toys use modern technology. 3_____ that are also popular. One example is a baseball game with small plastic players.

The shy architect

How Ratan Tata is changing India's biggest company

Ratan Tata trained to be an architect. Then he worked for the family firm, the Tata Group - one of the biggest companies in India. It has companies in many different sectors, including the car industry and the steel industry. The company's latest project is producing a car that costs under $3,000.

Mr Tata does not drink or smoke and he does not like publicity. He became chairperson in 1991. At that time, Tata was a difficult organisation to manage. There were more than 300 different companies in the group and some were old-fashioned. Today, there are only 96 companies and the group is more modern.

In the past, it was difficult for Tata to trade outside India because of competition from other countries. Now it exports internationally. The Tata Group is also buying companies in different countries. At the moment, one of the companies in the group, Tata Steel, is trying to buy Corus, a European steel company. But it has a competitor CSN, a Brazilian company, also wants to buy Corus.

Ratan Tata is making changes to the company. Many of these changes help make the group more competitive. But he isn't changing all the group's traditions. For example, the Tata Group still tries to help its workers - the children of Tata's steelworkers first started to have free education in 1917. Two thirds of the Tata Group is owned by charitable foundations, and today they are still helping people in India. Investors sometimes ask: 'Is Tata doing the right thing? Is charity good for business?' But Mr Tata thinks it is possible to help people and be competitive at the same time.

The world of work

Work has changed around the world

Manpower has been a successful employment agency for about 60 years. It has supplied temporary employees to companies since 1948. That's when the first office opened in Milwaukee, in the USA. Two lawyers started the company when they were unable to find temporary help with a project. Today, it is a global company with offices all around the world.

Employment agencies supply companies with different types of workers. These include professional and administrative workers in offices, and manual workers in factories and on building sites. Temporary workers (also called 'temps') now make up between one and three per cent of the total workforce in most countries. Multinational companies have employed temps for a long time. Now smaller companies also use temporary workers.

Have careers changed very much since the 1990s? A decade ago, people expected to work for the same company until they retired. Today, nobody expects a job for life any more. People move from job to job, working in different companies or in different departments. Training is important because it improves workers' skills. This can help employees to find better jobs or get a promotion.

In some jobs there aren't enough skilled workers. Some companies want retired people with skills to return to work. Japan, Australia and Italy have started to employ older workers. Companies need organisations like Manpower to arrange training for older employees, for example to use computers or to work with a younger boss.

My Future specialty

I study at North Caucasus Federal University. I am a second-year student of the Institute of Living Systems. My specialization is Food of Animal Origin (Meat and Meat Products Technology/ Milk and Milk Products Technology). This specialty is of great importance for the national economy of our country.

The students of our department have the opportunity to study in well-equipped laboratories. The lectures are read by highly qualified professors, among them there are even the members of Russian Academy of Science. Students are engaged in researches of the main constituents of nutrition of the future generations.

In order to carry this research work there is a big library, where we can improve our knowledge in this specialty. Students also take part in the national and international conferences and tell their mates about the results of their researches.

After graduating from the university I would like to work as an engineer-technologist in the field of food industry. I hope that I'll be able to become a highly qualified and experienced specialist in this field and I will manage to put my erudition and skills into practice.

It is not an easy task to study at this specialty, because biotechnology combines its own researches with that of other branches of science.

The theory basis in Meat and Meat Products Technology/ Milk and Milk Products Technology is already developed, but in practice there are not enough means for the rapid transition of the theory into practice. However, today people are conscious about the question how to feed the growing population in future and the aim of meat technologist is to solve this problem here and now. The main tasks for food industry are:

- to use nutritious products of vegetable and animal origin as efficiently as possible in order to produce tasty, useful, various and nourishing food;
- to secure the food supply for a global population that has now passed the four billion mark and is still growing fast.

The aim of food processing engineers is to provide the population of the country with food products within the shortest possible time, to achieve this we should design and develop processing equipment and procedures for the processing, storage, packaging and handling of food products.

It's not easy to study at our faculty but we do it with pleasure.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

I study at North Caucasus Federal University in Stavropol. It was founded in 1971. It was organized to train specialists for many branches of industry. During the last few years our University has become a large center of higher technical education as well as the center for training specialists in economics, law and linguistics. Fundamental research and applied investigations as well as experimental work are being successfully carried out at the University.

At present the university is a well-organized educational complex and research center possessing a wide range of financial and technical resources. NCFU is actively becoming integrated into the international educational system, participates in international educational projects, and has agreements on cooperation and student exchange with educational and research centers in the USA, Canada, West Europe, South-Eastern Asia and Africa.

The University teaches more than 20 thousand Russian and foreign students yearly in 11 departments by more than 70 specialties in engineering, natural science, economics and humanities.

These departments are: Civil Engineering Department, Economics and Finance Department, Humanities Department, Information Technologies and Telecommunications Department, Law Department, Department of Electronics, Nanotechnologies and Chemical Industry Department, Department of Foodstuffs Biotechnology, Department of Oil and Gas, Department of Power Engineering, Machine Building and Transport.

There are about 800 teachers in our University. Among them, 65 are professors and doctors of science, 7 academicians and corresponding members of RAS, 530 are associate professors and candidates of science. The University takes pride in its highly qualified scientific and pedagogic staff. Among the NCSTU professors are outstanding scholars, doctors of science, full and associate professors, honored scientists of the RF, honored educationalists, full members of Russian and International Academies of different branches.

Today students must assimilate a large quantity of new information which is increasing every day. Lectures and seminars alternate with laboratory works, discussions, research work and self-training.

The academic year begins in September and lasts 10 months till July. There are 3 terms in the course of the academic year, so the students take examinations three times a year. During the terms students have to attend lectures, carry out laboratory tests and practical training. At lectures students listen to the lecturers, take notes and ask questions. In seminars they raise problems and discuss them under the direction of their teachers.

Students of the first and second years study maths, physics, chemistry, foreign languages, elements of machines, mechanical drawing, strength of materials, history, philosophy, psychology etc. From the third year they start to study special subjects and carry out research works in their student scientific societies. Many students get student grant, the sum of money which depends on their success in studies. There are 3 hostels near the main building and the students from other towns and villages can live there paying a small quantity of money for rent.

University complex comprises different educational institutions, libraries, sports facilities and clubs, cultural center, students theater, medical center.

The students take an active part in public life of our University; they issue wall newspapers, give concerts, take part in different conferences and meetings. Each faculty has its own KVN team and they take part in the University championship gathering full concert hall of grateful audience. Students go in for different kinds of sports. Our football team as well as our volleyball and basketball players take part in the city championships.

I think it is worth studying at this University.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

What is technology?

Technology can be described as the modification of the natural environment (e.g. agriculture, water management, road building) and the making of materials (food, medicine, concrete) and artifacts (tools, clothing, houses) for the benefit of mankind. Most technologies were originally based on empiricism, whereas for present development application of scientific knowledge and methods is essential; this certainly applies to food technology. Often, technology is simply defined as “applied science”, but this was already refuted by Pasteur.

True as this observation is, it does not say enough about technology, and especially riot about food technology.

The study of food technology involves food science (physics, chemistry and microbiology of foods – as such, as well as during processing and storage) and food process engineering (including a considerable amount of bio-process engineering). Integration of various disciplines is needed in the study of almost every problem encountered. Such integration adds something to the mere application of sciences: the whole should be more than the sum of the parts. Moreover, innovative elements are often involved in the form of process design. Even more important is that knowledge of the system studied is essential. Process engineers tend to sciences.

Process engineers tend to merely consider material properties, i. e. physical properties like viscosity and heat conductivity of the maiccial being processed. Especially in food technology, this is generally insufficient. The process alters the system and the system often determines how the process will work out. Highly intricate interactions between process and system thus occur, the more so as the system is more intricate and as more process steps are involved. The ultimate example may be the manufacture and ripening of the cheese, understanding of which involves a wide range of (sub) disciplines, and where scores of reactions and physical changes occur in the system; any change in the process may affect several other process steps and product properties.

Задание 2. Выпишите предложения в пассивном залоге и определите, в какой видовременной форме он употребляется.

Задание 3. Перестройте предложения из пассива в актив:

Biotechnology

Biotechnology is the use of living systems and organisms to develop or make useful products, or "any technological application that uses biological systems, living organisms or derivatives thereof, to make or modify products or processes for specific use. Depending on the tools and applications, it often overlaps with the (related) fields of bioengineering and biomedical engineering.

For thousands of years, humankind has used biotechnology in agriculture, food production, and medicine. The term is coined in 1919 by Hungarian engineer Károly Ereky. In the late 20th and early 21st century, biotechnology has expanded to include new and diverse sciences such as genomics, recombinant gene technologies, applied immunology, and development of pharmaceutical therapies and diagnostic tests.

Definitions of biotechnology

The concept of 'biotech' or 'biotechnology' include a wide range of procedures starting with domestication of animals, cultivation of plants, and breeding programs that employ hybridization. Modern usage also includes genetic engineering as well as cell and tissue culture technologies. Biotechnology is defined by the American Chemical Society as the application of biological organisms, systems, or processes by various industries to learn about the science of life and the improvement of the value of materials and organisms such as pharmaceuticals, crops, and livestock. In other words, biotechnology can be defined as the mere application of technical advances in life science to develop commercial products. Biotechnology also deals with the pure biological sciences (genetics, microbiology, animal cell culture, molecular biology, biochemistry, embryology, cell biology). And in many instances it is also dependent on knowledge and methods from outside the sphere of biology including: chemical engineering, bioprocess engineering, bioinformatics (a new brand of Computer science), biorobotics.

Modern biological sciences (including even molecular ecology) are connected and dependent on the methods developed through biotechnology and what is commonly thought of as the life sciences industry. Biotechnology is the research and development in the laboratory using bioinformatics for exploration, extraction, exploitation and production from any living organisms and any source of biomass by means of biochemical engineering where high value-added products could be planned (reproduced by biosynthesis, for example), forecasted, formulated, developed, manufactured and marketed for the purpose of sustainable operations.

By contrast, bioengineering is generally thought of as a related field with its emphasis more on higher systems approaches (not necessarily changing or using biological materials directly) for connecting with and utilizing living things. Bioengineering is the application of the principles of engineering and natural sciences to tissues, cells and molecules. This can be considered as the use knowledge from working with and manipulating biology to a result that can improve functions in plants and animals.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

Industrial Biotechnology

Industrial biotechnology (known mainly in Europe as white biotechnology) is the application of biotechnology for industrial purposes, including manufacturing, alternative energy (or "bioenergy"), and biomaterials. It includes the practice of using cells or components of cells like enzymes to generate industrially useful products.

The industrial biotechnology community accepts an informal division between industrial and pharmaceutical biotechnology. This may be better understood by calling to mind the classification by the U.S. Biotechnology Industry Organization (BIO) of three "waves" of biotechnology. The first wave, Green Biotechnology, refers to agricultural biotechnology. The second wave, Red Biotechnology, refers to pharmaceutical and medical biotechnology. The third wave, White Biotechnology, refers to industrial biotechnology. In actuality, each of the waves may overlap each of the others. Industrial biotechnology, particularly the development of large-scale bioenergy refineries, will likely involve genetically modified crops as well as the large-scale bioprocessing and fermentation as is used in some pharmaceutical production.

Industrial or white biotechnology uses enzymes and micro-organisms to make bio-based products in sectors such as chemicals, food and feed, detergents, paper and pulp, textiles and bioenergy (such as biofuels or biogas). In doing so, biotechnology uses renewable raw materials and is one of the most promising, innovative approaches towards lowering greenhouse gas emissions.

The application of industrial biotechnology has been proven to make quite significant contributions towards mitigating the impacts of climate change in these and other sectors. In addition to environmental benefits, biotechnology can improve industry performance and product value and, as the technology develops and matures, white biotechnology will yield more viable solutions for our environment. Industrial biotechnology is based on renewable resources, it can save energy in production processes, and can significantly reduce CO₂ emissions. The impact that biotechnology has on industry is confirmed by scientific studies and reports. These innovative solutions bring benefits for both our climate and our economy.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

The laboratory

The well laid out laboratory is equipped for maintaining quality control standards on samples taken at all stages of process operations. A Multiscan infra-red analyser is used to give rapid readouts of butter fat content, protein, lactose and solids. The bacteriological testing area has a laminar flow cabinet with automatic planting apparatus and laser beam equipment (Don Whitley Scientific) for colony counting.

In the main laboratory, detergent concentration for CIP circuits is controlled by a Detomat C automatic unit. This is a new system devised by Lever Industrial, and Marshfield has the first installation in the world.

The Detomat C is based on the M range, but combined with the latest microprocessor technology, is said to have greater flexibility, and increased reliability. It automatically controls 9 separate detergent application points which can all require different concentration levels of both caustic and acid cleaning solution.

Channels 1 – 6 are for the soak rinse tanks on bottle and crate washers; channels 7 and 8 are for caustic and acid pasteuriser cleaning solutions, and channel 9 controls the caustic cleaning solution for all tanks, pipelines and bottle fillers.

The VDU monitor displays, on demand:

A. Solution concentration levels on all channels, set concentration levels, high alarm set points, and channel state (high, dosing, normal, low and initial detergent in use).

B. Time delays in seconds for dosing, high and low.

C. Temperature of each detergent solution together with minimum temperature setting for dosing interlock.

The control room

The computer control room is on the first floor, with an unimpeded view of the bottling hall below. The air conditioned room with restricted access, and a built-in fire protection Halon gas flooding system houses the Alfa-Laval Alert 500 system. This controls the total operation and interfaces with the boiler, refrigeration and filling lines. The control system consists of a master process controller with decentralised input/output microprocessor terminals. The logic program is written in a high level language for both process controller and microprocessor systems. This allows it to handle dedicated tasks rapidly and reliably, and also that operators can be trained in about three weeks.

The VDU's constantly monitor the status of all tank volumes, milk temperatures etc, printouts can be obtained and command signals transmitted. With the distributed design and use of Altop valves, the installation costs were reduced.

The Altop system consists of microcomputer-based models and decentralised units with solenoid valves on the top of each SGR product/CIP pipeline valve. There is one common signal cable and one common air supply between the model and loop of up to 64 SRC valves. At present there are 5 such loops, and spare capacity for 3 more. As each valve has its own interface, faultdetection is simplified and the system is self-diagnostic.

The control system utilizes programmed logic equipment with storage facilities for the plant specified. All process routes, CIP systems and fault alarms are handled by the control system. Items are checked whether they are operating or not; product flow cannot commence until all checks have proved satisfactory. Failures during cleaning will stop the activity, and cleaning will only be re-started once the cause of the failure has been located and cured. Sequence programs control the cleaning control system, and all CIP details are indicated on the co-ordinate panel of the operator console in the control room.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

Standartisation

Standardisation is the process of developing and implementing technical standards.

The people who use the item or service (engineers, trade unions, etc.) or specify it (building codes, government, industry, etc.) have the responsibility to consider the available standards, specify the correct one, enforce compliance, and use the item correctly. Validation of suitability is necessary.

Standardization is greatly implemented when companies release new products or software to market. Compatibility is important for products to be successful; many devices coming out have USB, Ethernet, or other standard types of connection. This allows consumers to use their new items along with what they already own.

In the context of social sciences, standardization often means the process of establishing standards of various kinds and improving efficiency. Standardization in this sense is often discussed along with (or synonymously to) such large-scale social changes as modernization, bureaucratization, homogenization, and centralization of society.

In the context of business information exchanges, standardization refers to the process of developing data exchange standards for specific business processes. These standards are usually developed in standards bodies such as the World Wide Web Consortium W3C, the Telecommunications Industry Association (TIA), and the Organization for the Advancement of Structured Information Standards (OASIS).

In the context of customer service, standardization refers to the process of developing an international standard that enables organizations to focus their attention on delivering excellence in customer service.

Standards can be:

- de facto standards which means they are followed by informal convention or dominant usage.
- de jure standards which are part of legally binding contracts, laws or regulations.
- voluntary standards which are published and available for people to consider for use.

There are at least four levels of standardization: compatibility, interchangeability, commonality and reference. These standardization processes create compatibility, similarity, measurement and symbol standards.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

Metrology

Metrology is the science of measurement. Metrology includes all theoretical and practical aspects of measurement. The word comes from Greek metron - "measure" and logos – study.

Metrology is defined by the International Bureau of Weights and Measures (BIPM) as "the science of measurement, embracing both experimental and theoretical determinations at any level of uncertainty in any field of science and technology”.

Metrology is a very broad field and may be divided into three basic activities and subfields, though there is considerable subfield between the various fields:

- Definition of internationally accepted unit of measurement.
- Realisation of these units of measurement in practice.
- Linking of measurements made in practice with corresponding standards.

Basic subfields, all of which make use of the three basic activities, though in varying proportions, are:

- Scientific or fundamental metrology.
- Applied, technical or industrial metrology.
- Legal metrology.

Scientific or fundamental metrology

Scientific or fundamental metrology concerns the establishment of quantity systems, unit systems, units of measurement, the development of new measurement methods, realizations of measurement standards and the transfer of traceability from these standards to users in society. The BIPM maintains a database of the metrological calibration and measurement capabilities of various institutes around the world. These institutes, whose activities are peer-reviewed, provide the top-level reference points for metrological traceability. In the area of measurement the BIPM has identified nine metrology areas including length, mass and time.

Applied, technical or industrial metrology

Applied, technical or industrial metrology concerns the application of measurement science to manufacturing and other processes and their use in society, ensuring the suitability of measurement instruments, their calibration and quality control of measurements. Although the emphasis in this area of metrology is on the measurements themselves, traceability of the calibration of the measurement devices is necessary to ensure confidence in the measurements.

Legal metrology

Legal metrology "concerns activities which result from statutory requirements and concern measurement, units of measurement, measuring instruments and methods of measurement and which are performed by competent bodies." Such statutory requirements might arise from, amongst others, the needs for protection of health, public safety, the environment, enabling taxation, protection of consumers and fair trade. The OIML (International Organization of Legal Metrology (Международная Организация Законодательной Метрологии)) was set up to assist in harmonizing such regulations across national boundaries to ensure that legal requirements do not inhibit trade.

World Metrology Day celebrates the signature by representatives of seventeen nations of the Metre Convention on 20 May 1875. The Convention set the framework for global collaboration in the science of measurement and in its industrial, commercial and societal application. The original aim of the Metre Convention – the worldwide uniformity of measurement – remains as important today as it was in 1875.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст:

Metrological traceability

A core concept in metrology is metrological traceability, defined by the BIPM as "the property of the result of a measurement or the value of a standard whereby it can be related to stated references, usually national or international standards, through an unbroken chain of comparisons, all having stated uncertainties." The level of traceability establishes the level of comparability of the measurement: whether the result of a measurement can be compared to the previous one, to a measurement result a year ago, or to the result of a measurement performed anywhere else in the world.

Traceability is most often obtained by calibration, establishing the relation between the indication of a measuring instrument and the value of a measurement standard. These standards are usually coordinated by national metrological institutes: National Institute of Standards and Technology, National Physical Laboratory, UK, Physikalisch-Technische Bundesanstalt, etc.

Traceability is used to extend measurement from a method that works in one regime to a different method that works in a different regime, by calibrating the two using an overlapping range where both work.

Basics

Mistakes can make measurements and counts incorrect. Even if there are no mistakes, nearly all measurements are still inexact. The term 'error' is reserved for that inexactness, also called measurement uncertainty.

All other measurements either have to be checked to be sufficiently correct or left to chance. Metrology is the science that establishes the correctness of specific measurement situations. Calibration is the process where metrology is applied to measurement equipment and processes to ensure conformity with a known standard of measurement, usually traceable to a national standards board.

Society

Sufficiently correct measurements are essential to commerce. About nine out of every ten people working in metrology specialize in commercial measurement, most at the technician level. Correct measurements are beneficial to manufacturing, but other methods are available and sometimes are more appropriate.

Metrology has thrived at the interface between science and manufacturing. Aerospace, commercial nuclear power, medicine, medical devices and semiconductors rely on metrology to translate theoretical science into mass-produced reality.

GOST

GOST (Russian: ГОСТ) refers to a set of technical standards maintained by the Euro-Asian Council for Standardization, Metrology and Certification (EASC), a regional standards organization operating under the auspices of the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS).

All sorts of regulated standards are included, from charting rules for design documentation to recipes and nutritional facts of Soviet-era brand names (which have now become generic, but may only be sold under the label if the technical standard is followed, or renamed if they are reformulated).

The notion of GOST has certain significance and recognition in the countries of the standards' jurisdiction. Russian Rosstandart government agency has gost.ru as website address.

GOST standards were originally developed by the government of the Soviet Union as part of its national standardization strategy. The word GOST (Russian: ГОСТ) is an acronym for gosudarstvennyy standart (Russian:государственный стандарт), which means state standard.

The history of national standards in the USSR can be traced back to 1925, when a government agency, later named Gosstandart, was established and put in charge of writing, updating, publishing, and disseminating the standards. After World War II, the national standardization program went through a major transformation. The first GOST standard, GOST 1 State Standardization System, was published in 1968.

The present

After the disintegration of the USSR, the GOST standards acquired a new status of the regional standards. They are now administered by EASC.

At present, the collection of GOST standards includes over 20,000 titles used extensively in conformity assessment activities in 12 countries. Serving as the regulatory basis for government and private-sector certification programs throughout the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS), the GOST standards cover energy, oil and gas, environmental protection, construction, transportation, telecommunications, mining, food processing, and other industries.

The following countries have adopted all or some of GOST standards in addition to their own, nationally developed standards: Russia, Belarus, Ukraine (DSTU), Moldova, Kazakhstan, Azerbaijan, Armenia, Kyrgyzstan, Uzbekistan, Tajikistan, Georgia, and Turkmenistan.

Because GOST standards are adopted by Russia, the largest and most influential member of the CIS, it is a common misconception to think of GOST standards as the national standards of Russia. They are not. Since the EASC, the organization responsible for the development and maintenance of the GOST standards, is recognized by ISO as a regional standards organization, the GOST standards are classified as the regional standards. The national standards of Russia are the GOST R standards.
